Longman Anthology of World Literature by Women, 1875-1975 Marian Arkin, Barbara Shollar, 1989

The Institution of English Literature Barbara Schaff, Johannes Schlegel, Carola Surkamp, 2016-11-07 The contributions investigate the ways in which numerous institutions of English literature shape the literary field While they cover an extensive historical field ranging from the Early Modern period to the 18th century to the contemporary they focus not only on literary texts but also on extra literary ones including literary prizes literary histories and anthologies and highlight the various ways in which these negotiate the processes that constitute the literary field All contributions assert that there is no such thing as literature outside of institutions Great emphasis is therefore put on different acts of mediation

The Routledge Companion to World Literature Theo D'haen, David Damrosch, Djelal Kadir, 2011-09-14 In the age of globalization the category of World Literature is increasingly important to academic teaching and research The Routledge Companion to World Literature offers a comprehensive pathway into this burgeoning and popular field Separated into four key sections the volume covers the history of World Literature through significant writers and theorists from Goethe to Said Casanova and Moretti the disciplinary relationship of World Literature to areas such as philology translation globalization and diaspora studies theoretical issues in World Literature including gender politics and ethics a global perspective on the politics of World Literature The forty eight outstanding contributors to this companion offer an ideal introduction to those approaching the field for the first time or looking to further their knowledge of this extensive field

Hinterland Rose Elizabeth Clayton, 2020-03-05 A crown is but the open flower in sunshine s bright Inside our thought holds most of the riddle of existence we interact primarily with the objectively real but always in companionship with the part of ourselves that is like an unclear halo We know it is truly our own but in great part clouded It is the marvelous self that is non corporal It is the spiritual unit of our being and while troubling and source to much sorrow it is triumphant as we die to its revealing we then rising as the grande phoenix out her ashes to the upward It is truly a source of secrets an entrance however painful for the Holy into our being it allows a concept of beauty to blossom in heinous circumstance and allows night to be born into a knowing glory solitude in onliness to present honorable messages of truth Therefore the bog the marsh the heath in purple or grey the bramble yet the swamp these are familiar settings for research and truth Our cognitive skills and their enlightening studies in classrooms everyday walks traumatic events as well as alternations in natural rhythming these we bring inside ourselves to see what we may see perhaps a rose the rose grows into much of itself into its rarity of beauty within the dark and as a metaphor of truth more out of solitude and personal embracing of ultimately finding

The Longman Anthology of World Literature David Damrosch, April Alliston, Marshall Brown, Sabry Hafez, David L. Pike, Ursula K. Heise, Djelal Kadir, Jane Tylus, Bruce Robbins, Haruo Shirane, Pauline Yu, 2004 The Longman Anthology of World Literature Volume I offers a fresh and highly teachable presentation of the varieties of world literature from the ancient world through the early modern period The editors of the anthology have sought to find economical ways to place texts within their cultural contexts and have selected and grouped materials in ways intended to foster connections and conversations across the anthology between eras as well as regions The anthology includes epic and lyric poetry drama and prose narrative with many works in their entirety Classic major authors are presented alongside more recently recovered voices as the editors seek to suggest something of the full literary dialogue of each region and timeline Engaging introductions scholarly annotations regional maps pronunciation guides and illustrations provide a supportive editorial setting An accompanying Instructor's Manual written by the editors offers practical suggestions for the classroom

Teaching Ethics through Literature Suzanne S. Choo, 2021-07-01 Teaching Ethics through Literature provides in depth understanding of a new and exciting shift in the fields of English education Literature Language Arts and Literacy through exploring their connections with ethics The book pioneers an approach to integrating ethics in the teaching of literature This has become increasingly relevant and necessary in our globally connected age A key feature of the book is its integration of theory and practice It begins with a historical survey of the emergence of the ethical turn in Literature education and grounds this on the ideas of influential Ethical Philosophers and Literature scholars Most importantly it provides insights into how teachers can engage students in ethical concerns and apply practices of Ethical Criticism using rich on the ground case studies of high school Literature teachers in Australia Singapore and the United States
