Cornelius,2015-07-22 Excerpt from Furniture Masterpieces of Duncan Phyfe Duncan Phyfe is the only early American cabinet maker to whom a very large group of furniture may be attributed on documentary grounds Much of the attribution to other American cabinet makers is based upon purely circumstantial evidence but in the case of Phyfe there exist documented examples of practically every type that is shown herewith The aim therefore has been to present at least all the general known types of furniture from Phyfe s best period and as many variations of these types as space would permit It has also been attempted to place this art craft of the Early Federal Period in the United States against the background of the time thus to relate the utilitarian art to the influences artistic social and economic which controlled to a large degree the forms which it took The book has been a result of the assembling of material for an exhibition of the work of Duncan Phyfe at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York In the search for Phyfe furniture there appeared a larger group of more varied material than had ever been supposed to exist It was deemed therefore advisable to put into permanent form this record of Phyfe s handiwork as it is known to day with no pretense to an exhaustive treatise About the Publisher Forgotten Books
