Adaptations

Terms to Know

- Physical Adaptation: Special body parts that help an animal survive.
- Behavioral Adaptation: An action or behavior that helps an animal survive.
- Population: A group of organisms of the same kind that live in the same place.
- Fossil: Preserved remains or impressions of a living organism.

Fossils

Fossils help scientists make inferences about past life and conditions in the areas where they discover fossils.

For example, a paleontologist discovers this fish fossil in the deserts of Arizona. The paleontologist can infer that the area once was covered in water and fish were part of the ecosystem. This means that the desert could have had a lake, pond, or other body of water many years ago.

Changes to Habitats

For populations to survive, they need to be able to find food, defend themselves, and reproduce.

If the environment changes, populations need to adapt or move to a new environment to survive.

For example, a herd of zebras live near a watering hole. The temperatures in the area are increasing and rainfall is decreasing. Soon, the watering hole dries up. The zebras need to find another water source nearby or move to a different habitat to survive.

Animal Adaptations ,1967 Memory, Learning, and Higher Function C.D. Woody,2012-12-06 The basis of learning appears to be a network of interconnected adaptive elements such as those found in the brain by means of which transforms between inputs and outputs are performed By adaptive I mean that the element can change in some systematic manner and in so doing alter the transform between input and output In living systems transmission within the neural network involves coded nerve impulses and other physical chemical processes that form reflections of sensory stimuli and incipient motor behavior The properties of the transmission network become significant determinants of behavior and depend on the mechanisms of neuronal adaptation the means by which the connectivities between different neurons are modified Particular paths through the network become labeled with reference to specific inputs and outputs The network then operates through labeled interconnections linking specific elements within the network and through the mechanisms that underlie each element's adaptation The adaptive features are crucial to learning and imply some associated underlying mnemonic process The labeling is of consequence with regard to the resulting specificities of stimulus reception and motor performance that characterize adaptive behavior Memory involves time dependent information processing relying on encoding and retrieval as well as storage itself In the brain engrams can be defined as those elemental adaptive changes that take place when learning and memory storage occur Persistent engrammatic modifications of neuronal structure commonly arise through the same associative mechanisms responsible for learned behavior 397 486 759 1020 Prentice Hall Science Explorer:

S. Shvarts, 2013-03-09 While translating this book I was in close communication with the author S S Shvarts Schwarz who read and commented on the entire translated manuscript In particular any ambiguities as to the identity of organisms described only by common names in the original text were removed because the author kindly supplied the Latin names in all such cases Common names are retained in the translation but the Latin names are also added where needed Some of the terminology used in the Russian is a transliteration from English words employed now more by European workers than Americans I have defined these terms or noted their more common equivalents used in current American literature where it seemed useful in the text A final chapter Recent Work on the Evolutionary Ecology of Animals is presented as Appendix II to the translation of the original text I have written this chapter in order to update the material presented in the original edition published in 1969 The chapter discusses important recent contributions relevant to the subject matter presented by Shvarts I would like to thank W Z Lidicker Jr and Y B Linhart for reading this final chapter and providing very helpful suggestions and comments I am particularly grateful to the author S S Shvarts for his careful reading of the translated manuscript
