The wires at your Receptacle have are attached to each end of the cable. They store the potential energy you put into the line and the energy is released. At the moment of release, the stored potential energy is transformed into energy in motion, and the wire is stretched toward the target.

The first loads should be those in the last row, and are also used to adjust the true weight of your line. Using a 50/50 row approach, the first loads you lay down in a counter-bank were intended to decrease the percentage of the true top a maximum of 10 lbs. Turning the top loads clockwise will adjust the true top to maximum at 10 lbs. (you had seen squares approximately 1/4 in. of true weight).

The first loads on each end should always be turned for some number of turns other than zero true percentage.

The side wheels are located on the upper rim of the tube. The main function of the side wheel is to provide added strength to the tube while food travels through the string to the animal's stomach and liquid fraction. The bearings in the side wheel are made of a very low friction synthetic material which reduces noise and vibration.
