application of good manufacturing practices if the food is to be safe at the point of consumption This demands that all personnel involved in the management and operation of cannery operations have a competent understanding of the technologies involved including the basic requirements for container integrity and safe heat sterilisation This book provides a source of up to date and detailed technical information for all those involved in the production of canned fish from students thinking of entering the industry to regulatory authorities with responsibility for official inspection trading companies and retail organisations who purchase canned fish as well as the manufacturers themselves An exhaustive range of topics is covered in 15 chapters including the current global market processing packaging and storage operations food safety and quality assurance international legal requirements and laboratory analysis Also available from Wiley Blackwell Fishery Products Quality safety and authenticity Edited by H Rehbein and J Oehlenschläger ISBN 978 1 4051 4162 8 Handbook of Seafood Quality Safety and Health Applications Edited by C Alasalvar F Shahidi K Miyashita and U Wanasundara ISBN 978 1 4051 8070 2 Fish Processing Sustainability and new opportunities Edited by G Hall ISBN 978 1 4051 9047 3

Handbook on European Fish Farming Ergün Demir, 2020-01-16 Aquaculture is one of the fastest way to produce animal protein for growing population in the World Aquaculture is the art science and business of producing aquatic plants and animals useful to humans Fish farming is an ancient practice and date back as far as 2500 BC In Europe fish raised in ponds became a common source of food during the Middle Ages Today aquaculture plays a major role in global fish supply Today the global community faces financial and economic crisis climatic changes and the pressing food and nutrition needs of a growing population with finite natural resources As the world's population continues to increase over the coming decades and global living standards rise demand for fish is set to keep on growing With most wild capture fisheries already fully exploited much of that new demand will have to be met from aquaculture According to FAO estimates more than 50 % of all fish for human consumption now comes from aquaculture Aquaculture is one of the most resource efficient ways to produce protein Fish come out well because in general they convert more of the feed they eat into body mass than livestock animals Salmon is the most feed intensive farmed fish to convert feed to body weight gain and protein followed by chicken Aquaculture is the controlled cultivation and harvest of aquatic organisms Most commonly grown are finfish and shellfish but other aquatic organisms are also cultivated such as seaweed microalgae frogs turtles alligators and endangered species There are many similarities between aquaculture and agriculture but there are some important differences as well Aquaculture like agriculture is necessary to meet the food demands of a growing global population with diminishing natural fisheries stocks Aquaculture and agriculture are both farming However aquaculture is farming in the water and therefore requires a different set of knowledge skill and technology manual of style ,1909 Handbook of Fish Biology and Fisheries Paul J. B. Hart, John D. Reynolds, 2008-04-15 Recent decades have witnessed strong declines in fish stocks around the globe amid growing concerns about the impact of fisheries on marine and freshwater biodiversity Fisheries biologists and managers are therefore increasingly asking about aspects of ecology behaviour evolution and biodiversity that were traditionally studied by people working in very separate fields This has highlighted the need to work more closely together in order to help ensure future success both in management and conservation The Handbook of Fish Biology and Fisheries has been written by an international team of scientists and practitioners to provide an overview of the biology of freshwater and marine fish species together with the science that supports fisheries management and conservation This volume subtitled Fisheries focuses on a wide range of topics including the history of fisheries science methods of capture marketing economics major models used in stock assessments and forecasting ecosystem impacts marine protected areas and conservation It builds on material in Volume 1 Fish Biology which ranges from phylogenetics and biogeography to physiology recruitment life histories genetics foraging reproductive behaviour and community ecology Together these books present the state of the art in our understanding of fish biology and fisheries and will serve as valuable references for undergraduates and graduates looking for a comprehensive source on a wide variety of topics in fisheries science They will also be useful to researchers who need up to date reviews of topics that impinge on their fields and decision makers who need to appreciate the scientific background for management and conservation of aquatic ecosystems To order volume II go to the box in the top right hand corner Alternatively to order volume I go to <http://www.blackwellpublishing.com/book.asp/ref/0632054123> or to order the 2 volume set go to <http://www.blackwellpublishing.com/book.asp/ref/0632064838> Provides a unique overview of the study of fish biology and ecology and the assessment and management of fish populations and ecosystems The first volume concentrates on aspects of fish biology and ecology both at the individual and population levels whilst the second volume addresses the assessment and management of fish populations and ecosystems Written by an international team of expert scientists and practitioners An invaluable reference tool for both students researchers and practitioners working in the fields of fish biology and fisheries
