Developing Reflective TESOL Practitioners Through Teacher Education Andrzej Cirocki, Mark Wyatt, Xuesong (Andy) Gao, 2024-06-26 This textbook provides insights from Asian contexts into how reflective practice is nurtured on Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages TESOL and English Language Teaching ELT teacher education programmes There is increasing recognition worldwide that given the centrality of reflective practice to teachers ongoing professional development supporting teachers to become reflective practitioners should be integral to teacher education programmes Consequently tertiary level courses in areas such as TESOL and ELT tend to promote reflective practice supported by theoretical input from the burgeoning literature on reflection much of which is produced in the West Relatively under represented in the literature are global perspectives on reflective practice there are consequently relatively few accounts as to how reflective practice is embedded in teacher education programmes in different parts of the world including Asia Hence this book addresses a gap Contributing authors from fourteen countries provide insights into the ways in which teachers are helped to grow as reflective practitioners on their teacher education programmes in their unique contexts This textbook showcases how reflective teaching practices are developed supported by frameworks for critical reflection and in interaction with local educational policies These distinctive accounts aid readers in reflecting on the ways in which reflective practice is supported in their own teacher education contexts and in considering ways of enhancing the reflective dimension of their programmes This textbook

showcases innovative reflective activities and can be used as a principal text or as supplemental reading on a range of TESOL and ELT teacher education courses

A Rhetoric of Reflection Kathleen Yancey, 2016-08-15 Reflection in writing studies is now entering a third generation Dating from the 1970s the first generation of reflection focused on identifying and describing internal cognitive processes assumed to be part of composing The second generation operating in both classroom and assessment scenes in the 1990s developed mechanisms for externalizing reflection making it visible and thus explicitly available to help writers Now a third generation of work in reflection is emerging As mapped by the contributors to A Rhetoric of Reflection this iteration of research and practice is taking up new questions in new sites of activity and with new theories It comprises attention to transfer of writing knowledge and practice teaching and assessment portfolios linguistic and cultural difference and various media including print and digital It conceptualizes conversation as a primary reflective medium both inside and outside the classroom and for individuals and collectives and articulates the role that different genres play in hosting reflection Perhaps most important in the work of this third generation is the identification and increasing appreciation of the epistemic value of reflection of its ability to help make new meanings and of its rhetorical power for both scholars and students Contributors Anne Beaufort Kara Taczak Liane Robertson Michael Neal Heather Ostman Cathy Leaker Bruce Horner Asao B Inoue Tyler Richmond J Elizabeth Clark Naomi Silver Christina Russell McDonald Pamela Flash Kevin Roozen Jeff Sommers Doug Hesse

Leveraging the ePortfolio for Integrative Learning Candyce Reynolds, Judith Patton, 2023-07-03 The fruit of the authors more than 15 years of using and writing about ePortfolios in general education and disciplinary programs and courses this book is a comprehensive and practical guide to the use of the ePortfolio as a pedagogy that facilitates the integrative learning that is a central goal of higher education Faculty and administrators of programs using ePortfolios can use this guide to help their students work individually on an ePortfolio or as part of a class or program requirement Readers will discover through examples of student portfolios and targeted exercises how to assist students in making their learning visible to themselves their peers their instructors and their future employers While interest in ePortfolios has exploded because they provide an easier and more comprehensive ways to assess student learning than traditional portfolios and because they have the potential to transformatively develop students ability to connect and apply their knowledge faculty and administrators all too often are disappointed by the lackluster ePortfolios that students submit Reynolds and Patton demonstrate how systematically embedding practices in the classroom that engage students in integrative learning practices dramatically improves outcomes The authors describe easy to use and practical strategies for faculty to incorporate integrative ePortfolios in their courses and curricula and create the scaffolding to develop students skills and metacognition The book opens by outlining the underlying learning theory and the key concepts of integrative learning and by describing the purpose structure and implementation of ePortfolios Subsequent sections cover classroom practices and assignments to help students understand themselves as learners make connections between course content their personal lives and to the curriculum bridge theory to practice and consider issues of audience and communication and presentation in developing their portfolios The book goes on to cover technological issues and assessment with a particular emphasis on the use of rubrics and concludes with explicated examples of ePortfolios created in a first year program ePortfolios created by graduating students career oriented ePortfolios and lifelong ePortfolios For both experienced faculty and administrators and readers just beginning to use ePortfolios this book provides a framework and guidance to implement them to their fullest potential
