Flying against Fate S. P. MacKenzie,2017-08-04 During World War II Allied casualty rates in the air were high Of the roughly 125 000 who served as aircrew with Bomber Command 59 423 were killed or missing and presumed killed a fatality rate of 45 5% With odds like that it would be no surprise if there were as few atheists in cockpits as there were in foxholes and indeed many airmen faced their dangerous missions with beliefs and rituals ranging from the traditional to the outlandish Military historian S P MacKenzie considers this phenomenon in Flying against Fate a pioneering study of the important role that superstition played in combat flier morale among the Allies in World War II Mining a wealth of documents as well as a trove of published and unpublished memoirs and diaries MacKenzie examines the myriad forms combat fliers superstitions assumed from jinxes to premonitions Most commonly airmen carried amulets or talismans lucky boots or a stuffed toy a coin whose year numbers added up to thirteen counterintuitively a boomerang Some performed rituals or avoided other acts e g having a photo taken before a flight Whatever seemed to work was worth sticking with and a heightened risk often meant an upsurge in superstitious thought and behavior MacKenzie delves into behavior analysis studies to help explain the psychology behind much of the behavior he documents not slighting the large cohort of crew members and commanders who demurred He also looks into the ways in which superstitious behavior was tolerated or even encouraged by those in command who saw it as a means of buttressing morale The first in depth exploration of just how varied and deeply felt superstitious beliefs were to tens of thousands of combat fliers Flying against Fate expands our understanding of a major aspect of the psychology of war in the air and of World War II

Three classic accounts of WWII from a reporter who shaped America s understanding of the war and influenced every account that came after Mark Bowden Volunteer combat correspondent Richard Tregaskis risked life and limb to give American readers a soldier s eye view of the Second World War These three tales of bravery and sacrifice shed light on the Greatest Generation s darkest hours Guadalcanal Diary In August 1942 Tregaskis landed with the US Marines on Tulagi and Guadalcanal Islands in the South Pacific for the first major Allied offensive against Japanese forces He details the first two months of the campaign and describes the courage and camaraderie of young marines who prepared for battle knowing that one in four of them wouldn t make it home An instant 1 New York Times bestseller and the basis for a popular film of the same name Guadalcanal Diary is a masterpiece of war journalism that captures the spirit of men in battle John Toland Invasion Diary In July 1943 Tregaskis joined the Allied forces in Sicily and Italy and documented some of the fiercest fighting of the war from bombing runs over Rome to the defense of the Salerno beachhead against heavy artillery fire to the fall of Naples In compelling and evocative prose Tregaskis depicts the terror and excitement of life on the front lines and his own harrowing brush with death when a chunk of German shrapnel pierced his helmet and shattered his skull Invasion Diary is required reading for all who want to know how armies fight Library Journal John F Kennedy and PT 109 In the early morning hours of August 2 1943 the Japanese destroyer Amagiri sliced into US Navy motor torpedo boat PT 109 near the Solomon Islands Ten surviving crewmembers and their young skipper Lt John F Kennedy clung to the wreckage Over the next three days the privileged son of a Boston multimillionaire displayed extraordinary courage and leadership as he risked his life to shepherd his crew to safety and coordinate a daring rescue mission deep in enemy territory Lieutenant Kennedy earned a Navy and Marine Corps Medal and a Purple Heart and the story of PT 109 captured the public's imagination and helped propel Kennedy all the way to the White House. Beaufighter and Mosquito Operations in WWII Zbyšek Nečas-Pemberton, 2024-04-30 Highly illustrated throughout with the author's own drawings and photographs many never published before Zbyšek Nečas was just 18 and still a high school student when he escaped from the Protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia a month before the outbreak of war in 1939. He managed to make his way to Britain where he had a cousin Nečas enlisted in the RAF in 1940 initially being posted as an interpreter at the Czech Depot. Some of his early duties involved the interrogation of captured German aircrew. He was however determined to fly. That wish came not as a pilot but as a radar operator. In time Nečas was posted to 68 Squadron which throughout the war had a large number of Czech exiles on its strength one flight was entirely Czech manned. In this moving memoir he details just what it was like to serve as part of an RAF night fighter crew during the second half of the Second World War. From the organization of squadron and operations to the directing of night fighters in the bomber stream problems of maintaining contact with the target the duration of patrols to interception tactics all and more is revealed in this book. Having trained on the Blenheim Mk IV Nečas operational patrols began on Bristol Beaufighters the squadron subsequently converting to de Havilland Mosquitoes. There are of course the graphic accounts of victory in the air. This includes combat with a Heinkel He 177 Grief over North Sea or the explosion of a Dornier Do 217 after another successful interception. As well as nighttime intruder operations over Europe from the summer of 1944 68 Squadron Nečas included found itself drawn into the battle against Hitler's V weapons particularly the V1. Nečas crew ended the war with three confirmed kills one probable and two damaged. After the war Nečas returned to his homeland where he received the tragic news that none of his immediate family had survived the German occupation. This is Zbyšek Nečas story of his part in the defense of Britain's skies and the final victory against the Third Reich. Bomber Aircrew in World War II Bruce Barrymore Halpenny, 2004-09-19 Aircrew on a bomber in World War II experienced a cold tiring and perilous existence. The RAF flew at night when the human spirit is at its lowest ebb and for many it did not seem prudent to think further ahead than the target and then hope for a safe return. Daytime raids brought the fear of defending fighters preying on the massed formations of heavily laden aircraft as they struggled over enemy territory. The ground crew saw their aircraft heave themselves into the air and their imagination filled the silent hours until they counted in the returning aircraft and saw the ravages of the enemy defences and the hazards of foul weather. This is their story. Nightstalkers Richard Phillip Lawless, 2023-02-23 Takes the reader into the Pacific war and offers a front row seat to the exploits of the Wright Project and their highly innovative technology War History Network In August 1943 a highly classified US Army Air Force unit code named the Wright Project departed Langley Field for Guadalcanal in the South Pacific to join the fight against the Empire of Japan Operating independently under sealed orders drafted at the highest levels of Army Air Force the Wright Project was unique both in terms of the war fighting capabilities provided by classified systems the ten B 24 Liberators of this small group of airmen brought to the war and in the success these crash built technologies allowed The Wright airmen would fly only at night usually as lone hunters of enemy ships In so doing they would pave the way for the United States to enter and dominate a new dimension of war in the air for generations to come This is their story from humble beginnings at MIT s Radiation Lab and hunting U boats off America s eastern shore through to the campaigns of the war in the Pacific in their two year march toward Tokyo The Wright Project would prove itself to be a combat leader many times over and an outstanding technology innovator evolving to become the 868th Bomb Squadron Comprehensive and highly personal this story can now be revealed for the very first time based on official sources and interviews with the young men who flew into the night A limber romp across the world of electronics and into the history of World War II ARGunners.com World War II Memoirs: The European Theater (LOA #385) Charles B.
