D. Fletcher,Sigmund Tobias,2011-05-01 There is intense interest in computer games A total of 65 percent of all American households play computer games and sales of such games increased 22.9 percent last year The average amount of game playing time was found to be 13.2 hours per week The popularity and market success of games is evident from both the increased earnings from games over 7 Billion in 2005 and from the fact that over 200 academic institutions worldwide now offer game related programs of study In view of the intense interest in computer games educators and trainers in business industry the government and the military would like to use computer games to improve the delivery of instruction Computer

Games and Instruction is intended for these educators and trainers. It reviews the research evidence supporting use of computer games for instruction and also reviews the history of games in general in education and by the military. In addition, chapters examine gender differences in game use and the implications of games for use by lower socio-economic students for students reading and for contemporary theories of instruction. Finally, well-known scholars of games will respond to the evidence reviewed.

Women's Group Treatment for Substance Use Disorder Elizabeth E. Epstein, Barbara S. McCrady, 2023

Women with Alcohol Use Disorder (AUD) and other Substance Use Disorders (SUDs) have different etiology, mortality, relapse antecedents, clinical presentation, and course of the disorders than men with AUD/SUD. See Epstein et al 2018. For instance, relative to men, women report higher comorbidity of mood, anxiety, posttraumatic stress, eating, and personality disorders (Rosenthal 2013) and women are likely to drink alone in secrecy daily in response to relationship difficulties (Zweig, McCrady). Mechanisms of change generally relevant to women likely include alleviation of negative affect, enhanced coping skills, and self-care improved interpersonal functioning (Velasquez, Timko, Finney, Lewis et al 2016). However, female segregated treatments have been found to be efficacious only if they include female-specific programming (Epstein, Holzhauer, Cucciare, Epstein 2020).

Internet and Mobile Phone Addiction Olatz Lopez-Fernandez, 2019-03-07

Internet use-related addiction problems (e.g., Internet addiction problem, mobile phone use problem, gaming and social networking) have been defined according to the same core element: the addictive symptomatology presented by individuals who excessively and problematically behave using the technology. Online activity is the most important factor in their lives, causing them the loss of control by stress and difficulties in managing at least one aspect of their daily life, affecting users' wellbeing and health. In 2018, Gaming Disorder was included as a mental disease in the 11th Revision of the International Classification of Diseases by the World Health Organization. In 2013, the American Psychiatric Association requested additional research on Internet Gaming Disorder. The papers contained in this e-Book provide unique and original perspectives on the concept, development, and early detection of the prevention of these health problems. They are diverse in the nature of the problems they deal with, methodologies, populations, cultures, and contain insights and a clear indication of the impact of individual, social, and environmental factors on Internet use-related addiction problems. The e-Book illustrates recent progress in the evolution of research with great emphasis on gaming and smartphone problems, signaling areas in which research would be useful even cross-culturally.

Playing Video Games Peter Vorderer, Jennings Bryant, 2012-10-12
