

PARTS LIST

The "registered view" method of illustrating available parts, i.e., showing the parts extended in their proper relation to each other, is used to assist the user of this parts list in locating detailed parts.

Each available part has been given a key number which is used only as a reference in locating the part number, description, and quantity in the list which follows each "engined view." This key number is not a part number. Do not use it when ordering parts.
