L O Exam November 2013:

The Global Politics of Science and Technology - Vol. 1 Maximilian Mayer, Mariana Carpes, Ruth Knoblich, 2014-08-20 An increasing number of scholars have begun to see science and technology as relevant issues in International Relations IR acknowledging the impact of material elements technical instruments and scientific practices on international security statehood and global governance This two volume collection brings the debate about science and technology to the center of International Relations It shows how integrating science and technology translates into novel analytical frameworks conceptual approaches and empirical puzzles and thereby offers a state of the art review of various methodological and theoretical ways in which sciences and technologies matter for the study of international affairs and world politics The authors not only offer a set of practical examples of research frameworks for experts and students alike but also propose a conceptual space for interdisciplinary learning in order to improve our understanding of the global politics of science and technology This first volume summarizes various time tested approaches for studying the global politics of science and technology from an IR perspective It also provides empirical theoretical and conceptual interventions from geography history innovation studies and science and technology studies that indicate ways to enhance and rearticulate IR approaches In addition several interviews advance possibilities of multi disciplinary collaboration

Fetal Positions Amy Adamczyk, 2025 In many countries abortion is a contentious public opinion issue In nations like the United States advocates on both sides of the debate have actively worked to amplify their voices and change legislation In other parts of the world such as China abortion is not a major discussion topic because many residents may see it as a relatively settled issue Legal developments often move in accordance with changes in public opinion but not always What explains differences in public opinion about abortion around the globe Fetal Positions explores this question using large scale surveys from most of the world s population interviews with experts from two case study countries the US and China and an analysis of newspaper articles from over forty countries The book examines the factors influencing cross national abortion rates and individual abortion decisions investigates the relationship between attitudes and laws and explores how personal and national characteristics shape views on abortion In Fetal Positions Amy Adamczyk makes the case that abortion disapproval is not randomly distributed across the world In fact patterns can be found across nations Adamczyk shows that cross national differences in public opinion can largely be explained based on a handful of factors overall levels of religious belief Catholic proportion economic and educational development type of government and government history and gender inequality Latin America for example is dominated by Catholicism has high levels of religious belief and low levels of abortion support Conversely while France and Spain have strong historical connections to the Catholic Church the proportion who feel that religion is highly important is much lower and attitudes are more liberal By offering important insights that can only be gleaned through cross national analysis Fetal Positions provides an international focus and fresh perspective on the abortion debate Emergency Care and the Public's Health Jesse M. Pines, Jameel Abualenain, James Scott, Robert Shesser, 2014-05-27 As US health care systems undergo a period of transformative change so too will emergency care and more specifically emergency departments This transformation will include The development of new diagnostic therapeutic and information technologies A growing need to prepare and respond to emerging public health threats The expansion of the role of allied health professionals to address the workforce crisis Novel expectations for care coordination The fundamental economics of emergency care under new payment models and The key relationship with American law Emergency Care and the Public's Health explores the complex role of emergency care in the context of these changes and as an increasingly vital component of health care systems both within and outside the US From an expert emergency medicine team this new title is a reference for emergency care and critical care providers allied health professionals and hospital administrators It is also for relevant for public policy and healthcare policy professionals The Revolution from Within Michael J. Bustamante, Jennifer L. Lambe, 2019-02-14 What does the Cuban Revolution look like from within This volume proposes that scholars and observers of Cuba have too long looked elsewhere from the United States to the Soviet Union to write the island's post 1959 history Drawing on previously unexamined archives the contributors explore the dynamics of sociopolitical inclusion and exclusion during the Revolution's first two decades They foreground the experiences of Cubans of all walks of life from ordinary citizens and bureaucrats to artists and political leaders in their interactions with and contributions to the emerging revolutionary state In essays on agrarian reform the environment dance fashion and more contributors enrich our understanding of the period beginning with the utopic mobilizations of the early 1960s and ending with the 1980 Mariel boatlift In so doing they offer new perspectives on the Revolution that are fundamentally driven by developments on the island Bringing together new historical research with comparative and methodological reflections on the challenges of writing about the Revolution The Revolution from Within highlights the political stakes attached to Cuban history after 1959 Contributors Michael J Bustamante Mar a A Cabrera Ar s Mar a del Pilar D az Casta n Ada Ferrer Alejandro de la Fuente Reinaldo Funes Monzote Lillian Guerra Jennifer L Lambe Jorge Macle Cruz Christabelle Peters Rafael Rojas Elizabeth Schwall Abel Sierra Madero Banking's Final Exam Morris Goldstein, 2017-05-30 Spurred by the success of the first stress test of US banks toward the end of the global economic crisis in 2009 stress testing of large financial institutions has become the cornerstone of banking supervision worldwide The aim of the tests is to determine which banks are adequately capitalized under severe economic shocks and to order corrective measures for those that are vulnerable In Banking's Final Exam one of the world's leading experts on banking regulation concludes that the tests administered on both sides of the Atlantic suffer from fundamental weaknesses leading to a false sense of reassurance about the safety and soundness of the banking system Some weaknesses can be corrected within the existing bank capital regime but others will require bold reforms including higher minimum capital requirements for the largest and most systemically important banks The banking industry is likely to resist these reforms but this book explains why their objections do not hold water

Policing Life and Death Marisol LeBrón, 2019-04-16 In her exciting new book Marisol LeBrón traces the rise of punitive governance in Puerto Rico over the course of the twentieth century and up to the present. Punitive governance emerged as a way for the Puerto Rican state to manage the deep and ongoing crises stemming from the archipelago's incorporation into the United States as a colonial territory. A structuring component of everyday life for many Puerto Ricans, police power has reinforced social inequality and worsened conditions of vulnerability in marginalized communities. This book provides powerful examples of how Puerto Ricans negotiate and resist their subjection to increased levels of segregation, criminalization, discrimination, and harm. Policing Life and Death shows how Puerto Ricans are actively rejecting punitive solutions and working toward alternative understandings of safety and a more just future.
