Language in Writing Instruction María Estela Brisk, 2020-09-22 Accessible and engaging this book offers a comfortable entry point to integrating language instruction in writing units in grades 3-8. A full understanding of language development is necessary for teaching writing in a successful and meaningful way. Applying a Systemic Functional Linguistics (SFL) approach, Mar a Brisk embraces an educator's perspective, breaks down the challenges of teaching language for non-linguists, and demonstrates how teachers can help students express their ideas and create cohesive texts. With a focus on the needs of all students, including bilingual and English language learners, Brisk addresses topics necessary for successful language instruction and moves beyond vocabulary and grammar to address meaning making and genre. This book provides a wealth of tools and examples for practice and includes helpful instructional resources that teachers can return to time after time. Moving from theory to practice, this teacher-friendly text is a vital resource for courses in language education programs, in-service teacher training seminars, and for pre-service and practicing English Language Arts (ELA) teachers who want to expand their teaching abilities and knowledge bases. This book features a sample unit and a reference list of instructional resources.

This educator's guide to the California Assessment Program's English Language Arts test describes what California's new reading and editing tests do and do not measure. The guide states that each test form consists of one reading passage from literature, science, or history/social science, followed by a variety of questions on word meaning and comprehension, with emphasis on inference items. The guide points out that the new test deals with more difficult content and more complex thinking than the original did, and also that special efforts were made to include passages that would appeal to the diversity of ethnic groups in California. The editing test in the guide is based on student essays and consists of multiple-choice questions that assess the most commonly occurring errors in student writing. The guide includes three illustrative reading and editing test forms.
