Awards ... First Division, National Railroad Adjustment Board United States. National Railroad Adjustment Board, Music, Brain, and Rehabilitation: Emerging Therapeutic Applications and Potential

Neural Mechanisms Teppo Särkämö, Eckart Altenmüller, Antoni Rodríguez-Fornells, Isabelle Peretz, 2016-08-05 Music is an important source of enjoyment learning and well being in life as well as a rich powerful and versatile stimulus for the brain With the advance of modern neuroimaging techniques during the past decades we are now beginning to understand better what goes on in the healthy brain when we hear play think and feel music and how the structure and function of the brain can change as a result of musical training and expertise For more than a century music has also been studied in the field of neurology where the focus has mostly been on musical deficits and symptoms caused by neurological illness e g amusia musicogenic epilepsy or on occupational diseases of professional musicians e.g. focal dystonia hearing loss. Recently however there has been increasing interest and progress also in adopting music as a therapeutic tool in neurological rehabilitation and many novel music based rehabilitation methods have been developed to facilitate motor cognitive emotional and social functioning of infants children and adults suffering from a debilitating neurological illness or disorder. Traditionally the fields of music neuroscience and music therapy have progressed rather independently but they are now beginning to integrate and merge in clinical neurology providing novel and important information about how music is processed in the damaged or abnormal brain how structural and functional recovery of the brain can be enhanced by music based rehabilitation methods and what neural mechanisms underlie the therapeutic effects of music. Ideally this information can be used to better understand how and why music works in rehabilitation and to develop more effective music based applications that can be targeted and tailored towards individual rehabilitation needs. The aim of this Research Topic is to bring together research across multiple disciplines with a special focus on music brain and neurological rehabilitation. We encourage researchers working in the field to submit a paper presenting either original empirical research novel theoretical or conceptual perspectives a review or methodological advances related to following two core topics: 1. how are musical skills and attributes e.g. perceiving music experiencing music emotionally playing or singing affected by a developmental or acquired neurological illness or disorder for example stroke aphasia brain injury Alzheimer's disease Parkinson's disease autism ADHD dyslexia focal dystonia or tinnitus and 2. what is the applicability effectiveness and mechanisms of music based rehabilitation methods for persons with a neurological illness or disorder. Research methodology can include behavioural physiological and/or neuroimaging techniques and studies can be either clinical group studies or case studies. Studies of healthy subjects are applicable only if their findings have clear clinical implications.

Power at Ground Zero Lynne B. Sagalyn, 2016-08-05. The destruction of the World Trade Center complex on 9/11 set in motion a chain of events that fundamentally transformed both the United States and the wider world. War has raged in the Middle East for a decade and a half and Americans have become accustomed to surveillance enhanced security and periodic terrorist attacks. But the symbolic locus of the post 9/11 world has always been Ground Zero, the sixteen acres in Manhattan's financial district where the twin towers collapsed. While idealism dominated in the initial rebuilding phase interest group trench warfare soon ensued. Myriad battles involving all of the interests with a stake in that space: real estate interests victims families politicians the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey the federal government community groups architectural firms and a panoply of ambitious entrepreneurs grasping for pieces of the pie raged for over a decade and nearly fifteen years later there are still loose ends that need resolution. In Power at Ground Zero Lynne Sagalyn offers the definitive account of one of the greatest reconstruction projects in modern world history. Sagalyn is America's most eminent scholar of major urban reconstruction projects and this is the culmination of over a decade of research. Both epic in scope and granular in detail this is at base a classic New York story. Sagalyn has an extraordinary command over all of the actors and moving parts involved in the drama the long parade of New York and New Jersey governors involved in the project Mayor Michael Bloomberg various Port Authority leaders the ubiquitous real estate magnate Larry Silverstein and architectural superstars like Santiago Calatrava and Daniel Libeskind As she shows political competition at the local state regional and federal level along with vast sums of money drove every aspect of the planning process But the reconstruction project was always about more than complex real estate deals and jockeying among local politicians The symbolism of the reconstruction extended far beyond New York and was freighted with the twin tasks of symbolizing American resilience and projecting American power As a result every aspect was contested As Sagalyn points out while modern city building is often dismissed as cold hearted and detached from meaning the opposite was true at Ground Zero Virtually every action was infused with symbolic significance and needed to be debated The emotional dimension of 9 11 made this large scale rebuilding effort unique it supercharged the complexity of the rebuilding process with both sanctity and a truly unique politics Covering all of this and more Power at Ground Zero is sure to stand as the most important book ever written on the aftermath of arguably the most significant isolated event in the post Cold War era

Rury,2023-10-13 An Age of Accountability highlights the role of test based accountability as a policy framework in American education from 1970 to 2020 For more than half a century the quest to hold schools and educators accountable for academic achievement has relied almost exclusively on standardized assessment The theory of change embedded in almost all test based accountability programs held that assessment with stipulated consequences could lead to major improvements in schools This was accomplished politically by proclaiming lofty goals of attaining universal proficiency and closing achievement gaps which repeatedly failed to materialize But even after very clear disappointments no other policy framework has emerged to challenge its hegemony The American public today has little confidence in institutions to improve the quality of goods and services they provide especially in the public sector As a consequence many Americans continue to believe that accountability remains a vital necessity even if educators and policy scholars disagree      Monongahela National Forest (N.F.), Allegheny Wood Products Easement ,2010
