

Figure 10.1 illustrates the effects of a decrease in the price of a factor of production on the production of two goods. The initial equilibrium is at the intersection of the initial production possibility frontier (PPF) and the initial budget line. A decrease in the price of a factor of production rotates the budget line outward, leading to a new equilibrium at the intersection of the new budget line and the initial PPF. This results in an increase in the production of the good that uses the factor intensively and a decrease in the production of the good that uses the factor extensively.
