Michael Osborn on Metaphor and Style Michael Osborn, 2018-07-01 This volume features two dimensions of Michael Osborn's work with rhetorical metaphor. The first focuses on his early efforts to develop a conception of metaphor to advance the understanding of rhetoric, while the second concerns more recent efforts to apply this enriched conception in the analysis and criticism of significant rhetorical practice. The older emphasis features four of Osborn's more prominent published essays revealing the personal context in which they were generated, their strengths and shortcomings, and how they may have inspired the work of others. His more recent unpublished work analyzes patterns of metaphor in the major speeches of Demosthenes, the evolution of metaphors of illness and cure in speeches across several millennia, the exploitation of the birth-death-rebirth metaphor in Riefenstahl's masterpiece of Nazi propaganda, Triumph of the Will, and the contrasting forms of spatial imagery in the speeches of Edmund Burke and Barack Obama, and what these contrasts may portend.

Chinese-Speaking Learners of English Ryan Damerow, Kathleen Bailey, 2019-12-05 A compendium of the latest developments in research regarding English language education for Chinese speaking learners, this volume combines cutting edge research from multiple internationally known scholars. The chapters offer unique insights into some of the most salient issues related to this broad topic. The seventh volume in the Global Research on Teaching and Learning English series, co-published with The International Research Foundation for English Language Education (TIRF), this book features chapters with original research written by TIRF Doctoral Dissertation Grant awardees. The volume addresses the crucial and growing need for research-based conversations on the contexts, environments, goals, and measures of success for Chinese speaking learners of English. It includes sections on language assessment, perceptions in university contexts, and technology, especially in relation to young learners. In order to promote in-depth discussion of the teaching and learning of English for native speakers of Chinese, the volume's 13 research-based chapters discuss topics such as the impact and implications of using emerging assessment tools, the increase in English for Specific Purposes (ESP) courses, academic speaking and writing, and teaching in an online or hybrid environment. Throughout the book, the authors draw on their knowledge of their multiple contexts, as well as their learners' needs and goals. This volume brings together innovative research for TESOL and TEFL students, language teacher educators, language policy specialists, language assessment scholars, and language teachers. Readers will become familiar with how these issues related to Chinese speaking learners of English are being addressed in academic circles around the world.

Engineering Classics Computing Digital Humanities English Ethics Film and Television Law and Narratology ALONG THE WAY Stewart Flate,2014-12-16 Throughout my life I was extremely fortunate to have met many of the good people that G d placed on this earth and avoided most of the folks that he should take back and reprogram For those persons that I came to respect and love they will always be referred to by their real names To the best of my knowledge not one of them has an outstanding warrant or owes me money so I have no reason not to include them in my story Persons for whom I only use initials are very few and are only mentioned in reference to a humorous incident Besides Kim Young master counselor and part of our family insists that no one needs to mention a negative about someone as it is probably already common knowledge

Reading the Wampum Penelope Myrtle Kelsey,2014-12-03 Since the fourteenth century Eastern Woodlands tribes have used delicate purple and white shells called wampum to form intricately woven belts These wampum belts depict significant moments in the lives of the people who make up the tribes portraying everything from weddings to treaties Wampum belts can be used as a form of currency but they are primarily used as a means to record significant oral narratives for future generations In Reading the Wampum Kelsey provides the first academic consideration of the ways in which these sacred belts are reinterpreted into current Haudenosaunee tradition While Kelsey explores the aesthetic appeal of the belts she also provides insightful analysis of how readings of wampum belts can change our understanding of specific treaty rights and land exchanges Kelsey shows how contemporary Iroquois intellectuals and artists adapt and reconsider these traditional belts in new and innovative ways Reading the Wampum conveys the vitality and continuance of wampum traditions in Iroquois art literature and community suggesting that wampum narratives pervade and reappear in new guises with each new generation

Emerging Issues and Trends in Education Theodore S. Ransaw,Richard Majors,2017-08-01 As classrooms across the globe become increasingly more diverse it is imperative that educators understand how to meet the needs of students with varying demographic backgrounds Emerging Issues and Trends in Education presents case studies from academics who have all at one point been teachers in K 12 classrooms addressing topics such as STEM as well as global issues related to race gender education education policy and parental engagement The contributors take an international approach including research about Nigerian Chinese Native American and Mexican American classrooms With a focus on multidisciplinary perspectives Emerging Issues and Trends in Education is reflective of the need to embrace different ways of looking at problems to improve education for all students Learning in the Plural David D. Cooper, 2014-04-01 Can civic engagement rescue the humanities from a prolonged identity crisis How can the practices and methods the conventions and innovations of humanities teaching and scholarship yield knowledge that contributes to the public good These are just two of the vexing questions David D Cooper tackles in his essays on the humanities literacy and public life As insightful as they are provocative these essays address important issues head on and raise questions about the relevance and roles of humanities teaching and scholarship the moral footings and public purposes of the humanities engaged teaching practices institutional and disciplinary reform academic professionalism and public scholarship in a democracy Destined to stir discussion about the purposes of the humanities and the problems we face during an era of declining institutional support public alienation and misunderstanding student ambivalence and diminishing resources the questions Cooper raises in this book are uncomfortable and in his view necessary for reflection renewal and reform With frank deft assessments Cooper reports on active learning initiatives that reenergized his own teaching life while reshaping the teaching mission of the humanities including service learning collaborative learning the learning community movement and student centered and deliberative pedagogy

The Far Edges of the Fourth Genre Sean Prentiss, Joe Wilkins, 2014-03-01 Though creative nonfiction has been around since Montaigne St Augustine and Seneca we've only just begun to ask how this genre works why it functions the way it does and where its borders reside But for each question we ask another five or ten questions roll to the surface And each of these questions it seems requires a more convoluted series of answers What's more the questions students of creative nonfiction are drawn to during class discussions the ones they argue the longest and loudest are the same ideas debated by their professors in the hallways and at the corner bar In this collection sixteen essential contemporary creative nonfiction writers reflect on whatever far dark edge of the genre they find themselves most drawn to The result is this fascinating anthology that wonders at the historical and contemporary borderlands between fiction and nonfiction the illusion of time on the page the mythology of memory poetry process and the use of received forms the impact of technology on our writerly lives immersive research and the power of witness a chronology and collage and what we write and why we write Contributors Nancer Ballard H Lee Barnes Kim Barnes Mary Clearman Blew Joy Castro Robin Hemley Judith Kitchen Brenda Miller Ander Monson Dinty W Moore Sean Prentiss Lia Purpura Erik Reece Jonathan Rovner Bob Shacochis and Joe Wilkins

The Prophetic Law Sandor Goodhart, 2014-01-01 To read literature is to read the way literature reads Ren Girard's immense body of work supports this thesis bountifully Whether engaging the European novel ancient Greek tragedy Shakespeare's plays or Jewish and Christian scripture Girard teaches us to read prophetically not by offering a method he has developed but by presenting the methodologies they have developed the interpretative readings already available within and constitutive of such bodies of classical writing In The Prophetic Law literary scholar theorist and critic Sandor Goodhart divides his essays on Ren Girard since 1983 into four groupings In three he addresses Girardian concerns with Biblical scripture Genesis and Exodus literature the European novel and Shakespeare and philosophy and religious studies issues especially ethical and Jewish subject matters In a fourth section he reproduces some of the polemical exchanges in which he has participated with others including Ren Girard himself as part of what could justly be deemed Jewish Christian dialogue The twelve texts that make up the heart of this captivating volume constitute the bulk of the author's writings to date on Girard outside of his three previous books on Girardian topics Taken together they offer a comprehensive engagement with Girard's sharpest and most original literary anthropological and scriptural insights
