Early Childhood Education in the United States Dinah Volk, Liz Brooker, Pamela Oberhuemer, Rod Parker-Rees, 2020-04-24 Early Childhood Education in the United States is rife with contradictions critique and innovation It is a time when a status quo characterized by systemic historic discrimination teacher de professionalization teaching to the test and attacks on funding is challenged by new technologies new literacies and transformative and critical perspectives and practices that defy assumptions and biases to create cutting edge diverse instantiations of Early Childhood Education for children families and teachers This volume based on a special issue of the Early Years journal written in 2016 before the new administration announced its policies aims to generate conversations about developments in Early Childhood Education situated within classist racist linguistic and neoliberal contexts and to analyze critically where we are where we might go and what we might do It is also an opportunity to share counter narratives to the dominant narratives promulgated by many convinced that narrow destructive norms of appropriate practice standards and accountability as well as the curtailed achievement of children of Color those from low income communities and emergent bilinguals are common sense

These counter narratives some about transformational projects that have generated innovative perspectives and practices and some detailing critical analyses and projects that go beyond to explore issues of power contest education that disprivileges some children and families while advocating education that is child and family centered culturally relevant and sustaining equitable and democratic Our hope is that this work creates a space of dialogue and human action needed even more urgently today This book was originally published as a special issue of the Early Years journal Language, Literacy, and Learning in the STEM Disciplines Alison L. Bailey,Carolyn A. Maher,Louise C. Wilkinson,2018-02-01 With a focus on what mathematics and science educators need to know about academic language used in the STEM disciplines this book critically synthesizes the current knowledge base on language challenges inherent to learning mathematics and science with particular attention to the unique issues for English learners These key questions are addressed When and how do students develop mastery of the language registers unique to mathematics and to the sciences How do teachers use assessment as evidence of student learning for both accountability and instructional purposes Orienting each chapter with a research review and drawing out important Focus Points chapter authors examine the obstacles to and latest ideas for improving STEM literacy and discuss implications for future research and practice

Student and Teacher Writing Motivational Beliefs Steve Graham, Gary A. Troia, Gustaf Bernhard Uno Skar, 2024-06-21 The study of students motivational beliefs about writing and how such beliefs influence writing has increased since the publication of John Hays 1996 model of writing This model emphasized that writers

motivational beliefs influence how and what they write Likewise increased attention has been devoted in recent years to how teachers motivational beliefs about writing especially their efficacy to teach writing impact how writing is taught and how students progress as writers As a result there is a need to bring together in a Research Topic studies that examine the role and influence of writing beliefs Historically the psychological study of writing has focused on what students write or the processes they apply when writing Equally important but investigated less often are studies examining how writing is taught and how teachers efforts contribute to students writing What has been less prominent in the psychological study of writing are the underlying motivational beliefs that drive or inhibit students writing or serve as catalysts for teachers actions in the classroom when teaching writing This Research Topic will bring together studies that examine both students and teachers motivational beliefs about teaching writing This will include studies examining the operation of such beliefs how they develop cognitive and affective correlates how writing motivational beliefs can be fostered and how they are related to students writing achievement By focusing on both students and teachers beliefs the Research Topic will provide a more nuanced and broader picture of the role of motivation beliefs in writing and writing instruction This Research Topic includes papers that address students motivational beliefs about writing teachers motivational beliefs about writing or teaching writing Students motivational beliefs about writing include beliefs about the value and utility of writing writing competence attitudes toward writing goal orientation motives for writing identity epistemological underpinnings writing and attributions for success failure as examples Teacher motivational include these same judgements as well as beliefs about their preparation and their students competence and progress as writers to provide additional examples This Research Topic is interested in papers that examine how such beliefs operate develop are related to other cognitive and affective variables how they are impacted by instruction and how they are related to students writing performance Submitted studies can include original research both quantitative qualitative or mixed methods meta analysis and reviews of the literature

Lotherington, Cheryl Paige, 2017-04-07 This book documents a collaborative action research project in one school where researchers and practitioners worked together to develop multimodal literacies and pedagogies for diverse multilingual elementary classrooms Following chronologically from Lotherington's Pedagogy of Multiliteracies 2011 this volume picks up after teachers and researchers have learned how to work efficiently as a learning community to offer project based learning approaches This edited collection relates how teachers and students of different grade levels language backgrounds and abilities developed a shared agenda and created a framework for effective and inclusive practices Contributors demonstrate that collaboration creative pedagogical solutions and innovative project based learning are all essential parts of learning and teaching socially appropriate and responsive literacies in a multimodal superdiverse world Interdisciplinary

Approaches to Multilingualism Suzanne Curtin, Mary Grantham O'Brien, Rahat Naqvi, 2015-07-16 This research topic stems from the Interdisciplinary Approaches to Multilingualism conference which was hosted by the Language Research Centre at the University of Calgary It was the first conference of its kind which brought together the work of researchers educators and policy makers in the areas of first and second language acquisition from psycholinguistic and pedagogical perspectives The goal was to provide an opportunity for participants to engage with the implications of multilingualism from a range of perspectives including the effects of being bilingual from infancy to adulthood the process and benefits of learning multiple languages and the impact of multilingualism on society Developing Writers Across the Primary and Secondary Years Honglin Chen, Debra Myhill, Helen Lewis, 2020-03-09 Writing development and pedagogy is a high priority area particularly with standardised testing showing declines in writing across time and through the years of schooling However to date there are relatively few texts for teachers and teacher educators which detail how best to enable the children to become confident autonomous and agentic writers of the future Developing Writers Across the Primary and Secondary Years provides cumulative insights into how writing develops and how it can be taught across years of compulsory schooling This edited collection is a timely and original contribution addressing a significant literacy need for teachers of writing across three key stages of writing development covering early 4 7 years old primary 7 12 years old and secondary years 12 16 years old in Anglophone countries Each section addresses two broader themes becoming a writer with a child oriented focus and writing pedagogy with a teacher oriented focus Together the book brings to bear rigorous research and deep professional understanding of the writing classroom It offers a novel approach conceiving of writing development as a dynamic and multidimensional concept Such an integrated interdisciplinary understanding enables pedagogical thinking and development to address more holistically the complex act of writing The Statesman's Yearbook 2014 B.
