Democracy at a Crossroads Gregory L. Samuels,Amy Samuels,2019-06-01 At a time of questionable civility in American politics democratic education appears to be at a crossroads As we consider how to best explore democracy and foster a more civically engaged populace in the current socio political context it is critical to examine what frames our educational systems policies and practices and shapes our civic identity While teachers struggle with decreased instructional time for social studies and the demands of standardized tests the social sciences are often pushed to the margins Reflecting on how to negotiate local state national and global tensions related to policy and practice educators work to do what is best to equip students to foster democratic citizenship and ideals Social sciences educators are uniquely positioned to embrace a journey that upholds democratic ideals of equality freedom and justice while simultaneously critiquing inequity and injustice in schools and our society The contributors to this volume situate a variety of discussions within the context of the crossroads and explore how to negotiate translate and reconceptualize our own beliefs and positionings in ways that positively influence and empower students teachers teacher educators and education policy makers Studies are presented related to civic education cross cultural interpretations emotional citizenship international economics and race consciousness as well as those that discuss how to challenge dominant narratives and negotiate educational policies and practices My Kids Can't Write, K-5 Paul Emerich France, 2025-03-04 Practical and sustainable writing practice in every classroom Teachers consistently grapple with how to make writing fun and engaging While long form writing has its value research shows that balancing genre based units with frequent on demand writing tasks to help children communicate effectively and reflect on their learning might be the key to success My Kids Can't Write provides sustainable and scalable practices for writing across all content areas and shows teachers how to develop structures and rituals for sustaining a journal based approach to instruction and assessment in classrooms Inside you'll find Scaffolds and strategies that systematically support students in strengthening their skills while simultaneously writing to learn Ways to embed foundational skills like spelling and grammar to help students become stronger communicators The purpose of cognitive writing and how to properly set up journaling within the classroom Numerous student journal samples and informative vignettes Now is the time to embed writing into all subjects and emphasize accurately interpreting information effectively communicating needs and making learning visible to students and educators alike Catalog of Copyright Entries. Mohnsen, 2008 This text describes how to create a programme that addresses the specific needs and capabilities of middle school students while helping them through the transition from childhood to young adulthood This edition is fully updated and revised Sierra Educational News California Teachers Association,1947 SRA Open Court Reading WrightGroup/McGraw-Hill,2001-06 Using Nonfiction for Civic Engagement in Classrooms Vivian Yenika-Agbaw,Ruth McKoy Lowery,Paul H. Ricks,2018-02-22 This book acknowledges the existence of high quality nonfiction children s literature that may serve as a basis for conversation about civic engagements and our roles as global citizens It touches on our social history and offers ideas for how educators might be able to engage readers in healthy and useful dialogues on what it means to be human and how nonfiction texts attempt to reconstruct this reality in this quest to recognize our collective humanity Sierra Educational News ,1949 Course of Study and Manual of Methods for the Elementary Schools of Iowa Iowa. Department of Public Instruction,Chauncey Peter Colegrove,1913 Teaching and Learning Online Franklin S. Allaire,Jennifer E. Killham,2022-04-01 Science is unique among the disciplines since it is inherently hands on However the hands on nature of science instruction also makes it uniquely challenging when teaching in virtual environments How do we as science teachers deliver high quality experiences in an online environment that leads to age grade level appropriate science content knowledge and literacy but also collaborative experiences in the inquiry process and the nature of science The expansion of online environments for education poses logistical and pedagogical challenges for early childhood and elementary science teachers and early learners Despite digital media becoming more available and ubiquitous and increases in online spaces for teaching and learning Killham et al 2014 Wong et al 2018 PreK 12 teachers consistently report feeling underprepared or overwhelmed by online learning environments Molnar et al 2021 Seaman et al 2018 This is coupled with persistent challenges related to elementary teachers lack of confidence and low science teaching self efficacy Brigido Borrachero Bermejo Gunning Duran Duran 2004 Ideal for undergraduate teacher candidates graduate students teacher educators classroom teachers parents and administrators this book addresses why and how teachers use online environments to teach science content and work with elementary students through a research based foundation
