Trigeminal Neuralgia Giulia Di Stefano, 2022-11-30 Trigeminal Neuralgia is a unique neuropathic facial pain condition characterized by unilateral paroxysmal pain most often described as stabbing or electric shock like restricted to the distribution of one or more divisions of the trigeminal nerve territory and triggered by innocuous stimuli Trigger zones are reported in virtually the totality of patients and represent the hallmark sign of Trigeminal Neuralgia The development and application of a dedicated software allowed trigger zone overlap profiling of the extraoral and intraoral territories The analysis of the natural history of Trigeminal Neuralgia showed that the failure of the treatment with first line drugs carbamazepine and oxcarbazepine most of the times is not due to the inefficacy of the drug but rather to undesired effects to a level that causes interruption of treatment or a dosage reduction to an insufficient level These results suggest the opportunity to develop a better tolerated drug Winner of the Competition Prize for PhD Thesis 2020 arranged by Sapienza University Press

The Brilliance of Black Children in Mathematics Jacqueline Leonard, Danny B. Martin, 2013-03-01 This book is a critically important contribution to the work underway to transform schooling for students who have historically been denied access to a quality education specifically African American children The first section of the book provides some historical perspective critical to understanding the current state of education in the U S specifically for the education of African American children The following sections include chapters on policy learning ethnomathematics student identity and teacher preparation as it relates to the mathematical education of Black children Through offering counternarratives about mathematically successful Black youth advocating for a curriculum that is grounded in African American culture and ways of thinking providing shining examples of the brilliance of Black students and promoting high expectations for all rather than situating students as the problem the authors of this book provide powerful insights related to the teaching and learning of mathematics for African American students As is made evident in this book effective teaching involves much more than just engaging students in inquiry based pedagogy Kitchen 2003 The chapters offered in this book demonstrate how mathematics instruction for African American students needs to take into account historical marginalization and present day policies that do harm to Black students Kunjufu 2005 Empowering mathematics instruction for African American students needs to take into consideration and promote students cultural spiritual and historical identities Furthermore mathematics instruction for African American students should create opportunities for students to express themselves and the needs of their communities as a means to promote social justice both within their classrooms and communities

Induced plant responses to microbes and insects Corné M. J. Pieterse, Marcel Dicke, Saskia C. M. Van Wees, Erik H. Poelman, 2014-04-14 Plants are members of complex communities and interact both with antagonists and beneficial organisms An important question in plant defense signaling research is how plants integrate signals induced by pathogens insect herbivores and beneficial microbes into the most appropriate adaptive response Molecular and genomic tools are now being used to uncover the complexity of the induced defense signaling networks that have evolved during the arms races between plants and the other organisms with which they intimately interact To understand the functioning of the complex defense signaling network in nature molecular biologists and ecologists have joined forces to place molecular mechanisms of induced plant defenses in an ecological perspective In this Research Topic we aim to provide an on line open access snapshot of the current state of the art of the field of induced plant responses to microbes and insects with a special focus on the translation of molecular mechanisms to ecology and vice versa
