

Flame Test Lab

Activity Key

Background

The heat from a laboratory burner will cause the ions of some elements to give off light. Electrons will absorb the heat energy from the flame and will “jump” to a higher energy level. When the electrons return to their original energy levels, this absorbed energy is released as light. Different elements absorb and release different amounts of energy and thus produce different kinds of light. This light may be visible or invisible, infrared or ultraviolet radiation. Analysis of this light can be used to identify elements and molecules. In today’s lab, we will observe the visible range of light emission.

Objectives

1. Perform a flame test to identify the characteristic color of metal ions.
2. Identify the metal ion in an unknown solution.
3. Calculate the energy of emitted photons.

Materials: (per lab group)

10 ml dilute solutions of the following:

Barium Chloride
Calcium Chloride
Lithium Chloride
Potassium Chloride
Sodium Chloride
Strontium Chloride
Unknown Solution

7 Wood Splints

1 Bunsen Burner

Safety Goggles & Aprons

Note:

If chloride compounds are not available, metal nitrate compounds may be substituted.

Use dilute or approximately 0.1 M solutions

Unknowns:

Number the beakers 1-12.

Add solutions as follows:

1. Strontium Chloride

2. Calcium Chloride

3. Potassium Chloride

4. Barium Chloride

5. Lithium Chloride

6. Sodium Chloride

7. Calcium Chloride

8. Strontium Chloride

9. Barium Chloride

10. Potassium Chloride

11. Sodium Chloride

12. Lithium Chloride

Procedure

1. Put on your safety goggles and an apron.
2. Obtain a wood splint and the barium chloride solution.
3. Dip the wood splint into the solution and allow it to soak for 1-2 minutes.
4. Light Bunsen Burner. USE CAUTION!
5. Remove the splint from the solution and hold the end of the splint into the flame. Do not burn the splint.
6. Observe and record the color of the flame.
7. Repeat steps 2-6 using the remaining chloride solutions.
8. Obtain an unknown solution from your teacher. Record the number of your unknown.
9. Soak a wood splint in the unknown solution.
10. Hold the splint in the flame and record the color of the flame that is produced.
11. Using your data, identify the metal ion in your unknown solution.

Teacher Personal Theorizing Gail MacCutcheon,1992-01-01 This book examines the relationship between teacher theorizing and teacher action as illustrated by the curricular and instructional practices of teachers. The authors show that all teaching is guided by theory developed by the teachers. Teachers could not begin to practice without some knowledge of the context of their practice and without ideas about what can and should be done in those circumstances. In this sense teachers are guided by personal practical theories that structure their activities and guide them in making decisions. This literature is very significant in explaining and interpreting many phenomena of schooling such as why teachers alter curriculum documents and other policies, how inservice education can be improved, how supervisors can help teachers to improve their practices, and how administrators can become leaders to improve education. This perspective has broad and specific implications for every facet of education. Those interested in teacher education and development in supervision in curriculum and in administration will find it especially relevant.

Who's the New Kid in Chemistry? John D. Butler, 2013-12-12. Who's the New Kid in Chemistry offers an unprecedented look at student engagement and teacher best practices through the eyes of an educational researcher enrolled as a public high school student. Over the course of seventy-nine consecutive days, John D. Butler participates in and observes Rhode Island 2013 Teacher of the Year Jessica M. Waters's high school chemistry class, documenting his experiences as they unfold. Who's the New Kid in Chemistry is a compelling example of what can be accomplished when an educational researcher and teacher collaborate in the classroom. This work includes a discussion on flexible homework assignments, data-driven instruction, and thirty teacher best practices. This book is an invaluable resource for teachers across all content areas, masters and doctoral research method classes, and future Teachers of the Year.

Gourmet Lab Sarah Reeves Young, 2011. Hands-on inquiry-based and relevant to every student's life, Gourmet Lab serves up a full menu of activities for science teachers of grades 6-12. This collection of 15 hands-on experiments, each of which includes a full set of both student and teacher pages, challenges students to take on the role of scientist and chef as they boil, bake, and toast their way to a better understanding of science concepts from chemistry, biology, and physics. By cooking edible items such as pancakes and butterscotch, students have the opportunity to learn about physical changes in states of matter, acids and bases, biochemistry, and molecular structure. The Teacher pages include Standards addressed in each lab, a vocabulary list, safety protocols, materials required, procedures, data analysis, student questions, answer key, and conclusions and connections to spur wrap-up class discussions. Cross-curricular notes are also included to highlight the lesson's connection to subjects such as math and literacy. Finally, optional extensions for both middle school and high school levels detail how to explore each concept further. What better topic than food to engage students to explore science in the natural world?

Matter, Building Block of the Universe, 1993. Science, 2001. Practical Chemistry Labs Leonard Saland, 1989. Features self-contained step-by-step activities using common materials and covering topics from food chemistry to papermaking and electrochemistry. Illustrates the connection between the real world and chemistry concepts such as solutions, chemistry, acids and bases, and more. Includes teacher notes, quizzes, and answers to help monitor student
