

Flame Test Lab

Activity Key

Background

The heat from a laboratory burner will cause the ions of some elements to give off light. Electrons will absorb the heat energy from the flame and will “jump” to a higher energy level. When the electrons return to their original energy levels, this absorbed energy is released as light. Different elements absorb and release different amounts of energy and thus produce different kinds of light. This light may be visible or invisible, infrared or ultraviolet radiation. Analysis of this light can be used to identify elements and molecules. In today’s lab, we will observe the visible range of light emission.
