

Hunter-Gatherers

The Paleolithic Age

Historians call the early period of human history the Stone Age. They do this because it was the time when people used stone to make tools and weapons. The earliest part of this period was the Paleolithic (pay • lee • uh • LITH • thick) Age. In Greek, paleolithic means "old stone." Therefore, the Paleolithic Age is also called the Old Stone Age. The Paleolithic Age began about 2.5 million years ago and lasted until around 8,000 B.C. Remember, that is about 4,500 years earlier than recorded time, which starts about 5,500 years ago.

Surviving in the Paleolithic Age

Try to imagine what life was like during the Paleolithic Age. Think about living in a time long before any roads, farms, or villages existed. Paleolithic people often moved around in search of food. They were nomads (NOH • mads), or people who regularly move from place to place to survive. They traveled in groups, or bands, of about 20 or 30 members.

Paleolithic people survived by hunting and gathering. The search for food was their main activity, and it was often difficult. They had to learn which animals to hunt and which plants to eat. Paleolithic people hunted buffalo, bison, wild goats, reindeer, and other animals, depending on where they lived. Along coastal areas, they fished. These early people also gathered wild nuts, berries, fruits, wild grains, and green plants.

Finding Food

Paleolithic men and women performed different tasks within the group. Men—not women—hunted large animals. They often had to search far from their camp. Men had to learn how animals behaved and how to hunt them. They had to develop tracking methods. At first, men used clubs or drove the animals off cliffs to kill them. Over time, however, Paleolithic people developed tools and weapons to help them hunt. The traps and spears they made increased their chances of killing their prey.

Women stayed close to the camp, which was often located near a stream or other body of water. They looked after the children and searched nearby woods and meadows for berries, nuts, and grains. Everyone worked to find food, because it was the key to the group's survival.

Some scientists believe that an equal relationship existed between Paleolithic men and women. It is likely that both made decisions that affected the band or group. Some evidence suggests that some men and women may have hunted in monogamous pairs. This means that a man and a woman worked together to find food for themselves and their children. Such groupings became the first families.

humanity's first and most successful adaptation Until 12 000 years ago all humanity lived this way Surprisingly in an increasingly urbanized and technological world dozens of hunting and gathering societies have persisted and thrive worldwide resilient in the face of change their ancient ways now combined with the trappings of modernity The Encyclopedia is divided into three parts The first contains case studies by leading experts of over fifty hunting and gathering peoples in seven major world regions There is a general introduction and an archaeological overview for each region Part II contains thematic essays on prehistory social life gender music and art health religion and indigenous knowledge The final part surveys the complex histories of hunter gatherers encounters with colonialism and the state and their ongoing struggles for dignity and human rights as part of the worldwide movement of indigenous peoples Hunters and Gatherers: History, evolution, and social change Tim Ingold, David Riches, James Woodburn, 1988 A collection of papers given at a conference in London to mark the 20th anniversary of the Man the Hunter Symposium The two volumes resulting from this conference present new information on the structure and evolution of hunter gatherer societies Constructing Frames of Reference Lewis R. Binford, 2019-05-07 Many consider Lewis Binford to be the single most influential figure in archaeology in the last half century His contributions to the New Archaeology changed the course of the field as he argued for the development of a scientifically rigorous framework to guide the excavation and interpretation of the archaeological record This book the culmination of Binford's intellectual legacy thus far presents a detailed description of his methodology and its significance for understanding hunter gatherer cultures on a global basis This landmark publication will be an important step in understanding the great process of cultural evolution and will change the way archaeology proceeds as a scientific enterprise This work provides a major synthesis of an enormous body of cultural and environmental information and offers many original insights into the past Binford helped pioneer what is now called ethnoarchaeology the study of living societies to help explain cultural patterns in the archaeological record and this book is grounded on a detailed analysis of ethnographic data from about 340 historically known hunter gatherer populations The methodological framework based on this data will reshape the paradigms through which we understand human culture for years to come Indigenous Cognition: Functioning in Cultural Context J.W. Berry, S.H. Irvine, E.G. Hunt, 2012-12-06 Cognitive psychology has established itself as one of the major branches of the discipline with much to its credit in such areas as decision making information processing memory and learning Similarly the assessment of cognitive abilities has become one of the hallmarks of the practice of psychology in the school in the factory and in the clinic In recent years these two branches have begun to interact and the two approaches have begun mutually to engage each other A third trend that of cross cultural cognitive psychology has been informed both by experimental cognitive sciences and by the practice of ability assessment see for example Berry and Dasen 1974 Cole and Scribner 1974 However the reverse has not been true the cognitive processes and abilities of much of the world's peoples studied by cross cultural psychologists have not been introduced to psychologists working in these two

Western traditions see Irvine and Berry 1987 This volume attempts to begin this introduction by asking the question What is known about the cognitive functions of other peoples that could enable extant psychology to become more comprehensive to attain a universal cognitive psychology Who are these other peoples and by extension what then is indigenous cognition The first question is rather easy to answer but the second is more difficult interactions exploitation and use of raw materials and subsistence strategies We chose to organize the papers on three main sections while within the respective theme they follow in chronological succession The archaeology of the Iron Gates opens the volume given Clive Bonsall's substantial contribution to the local early prehistory The eight contributions cover a large range of subjects from physical anthropology Andrei Soficaru's re-interpretation of earlier excavations and the subsequent collections Adina Boronean's stone artefacts Dragana Antonovi Vidan Dimi Andrej Starovi and Du'an Bori to the study of faunal remains and subsequent paleo dietary issues Adrian Blădescu Adina Boronean and Valentin Radu Dragana Filipovi Jelena Jovanovi and Dragana Ranić Ivana Ivaljevi Vesna Dimitrijevi and Sofija Stefanovi and osseous industries Monica Mergrit and Adina Boronean Selena Vitezovi These studies illustrate the still immense research potential of the Iron Gates region despite the fact that most of the sites have been flooded many decades ago During the editing of the volume it became obvious that while some of the contributions focused on the evidence from a certain site others were more of a regional synthesis This latter section begins with a most interesting paper bringing together world history and underwater archaeology Jonathan Benjamin and Geoff Bailey The following nine articles deal with subjects such as social inequalities seen through the study of burial practices Judith M. Grønberg lifeways adaptations and subsistence strategies of the early prehistoric communities Agathe Reingruber Mihael Budja Annie Brown and Haskel Greenfield Kenneth Ritchie raw materials acquisition and exploitation Tomasz Ponka Maria Gurova Eva David exploitation management and trade of exotic goods Vassil Nikolov The nine papers focusing on individual sites present case studies that illustrate the nature of the current research the rich opportunities offered by the growing range of scientific techniques and their applications to existing collections This series of papers starts at Zemunica Cave on the coast of the Eastern Adriatic Siniša Radović and Ankica Oros Sršen explores the Mesolithic occupations at Malga Rondenetto Paolo Biagi Elisabetta Starnini and Renato Nisbet and Grotta dell'Edera Barbara Voytek in Italy the Mesolithic ornamented weapons of Motala in Sweden Lars Larsson and Fredrik Molin ending this Mesolithic journey among the shell middens on the western coast of Scotland Catriona Pickard The transition to the Neolithic happens among the beaver tools at Zamojste 2 in Russia Olga Lozovskaya Charlotte Leduc and Louis Chaix The Neolithic Age finds us further south into Bulgaria exploring the pitfields of Sarnevo Krum Bacvarov and John Gorczyk and the gold of Varna Tanya Dzhanfiezova while during the Bronze Age roe deer hunting is resurrected at Paks Gyapa in Hungary László Bartosiewicz and Erika Gál The volume presents altogether new results in recent research and new information resulted from the study of old collections We also hope it points out directions for future research It is with great joy that we present Clive Bonsall this volume as a token of both our appreciation and friendship for his contributions to the Early Prehistory of Europe in general and of Southeastern Europe in special The Editors
