Question 1 is "Should elementary school-age children have to pass high-stakes tests in order to remain with their classmates?" and Question 2 is "Should schools and students be held accountable for meeting yearly learning goals by testing students before they advance to the next grade?" Complete parts a and b below.
- a) Do you think responses to these two questions might differ? How? What kind of bias is this?
- A. The answers for these two questions will definitely differ. Question 1 will probably get many "No" answers, while Question 2 will get many "Yes" answers. This is an example of response bias.
- B. The answers for these two questions will not differ. Both questions will only be answered by a small portion of the parents. This is an example of undercoverage of the population.
- C. The answers for these two questions will definitely differ. Question 1 will probably get many "Yes" answers, while Question 2 will not get many answers. This is an example of relying on voluntary response.
- D. The answers for these two questions will not differ. The wording of both questions suggests a negative response. This is an example of nonresponse bias.
- b) Propose a question with more neutral wording that might better assess parental opinion. Choose the correct answer below.
- A. "Should students be held back for below average scores on standardized tests?"
- B. "Do you think standardized tests are appropriate for deciding whether a student should be promoted to the next grade?"
