

Children Autism Rating Scale, 3rd Edition

The CARS-3 gathers information about specific characteristics typically noted in children with autism spectrum disorders in three main areas (restricted/repetitive behaviors, social interaction, and social communication) in addition to gathering information about emotional responses, cognitive style, and maladaptive speech. Restricted/Repetitive behaviors are stereotyped behaviors, fixated interests, routines, or rituals. Social Interaction measures social behaviors. Social Communication measures the individual's responses to social situations and understanding of the intent of social interaction and communication. Emotional Responses measures extreme emotional responses to everyday situations. Cognitive Style measures idiosyncratic fixated interests, characteristics, and cognitive abilities. Maladaptive Speech describes deficits and idiosyncrasies in verbal communication.

Each rater is asked to rate the behavioral descriptions reflective of their observations as: 1. Not at all like the individual; 2. Not much like the individual; 3. Somewhat like the individual; or 4. Very much like the individual. The following charts reflect (STUDENT) rater scores on the subtests as well as composite scores associated with likelihood of the Autism Spectrum Diagnosis and level of severity.

Composite Scores were computed using both a four score Autism Index and a six score Autism Index. Autism Index scores of 75-100 indicate a "Very Likely" probability of ASD and reflects Severity Level 2. Autism Index scores equal or greater than a score of 100 indicate a "Very Likely" probability of ASD and a Severity Level of 3.
