

Glory Movie Questions

1. How does the attitude of Colonel Robert Gould Shaw toward African-Americans change and why?

Colonel Shaw's attitude toward African-Americans changes over the course of the movie. At first, he is a white supremacist who believes that African-Americans are inferior and should not be allowed to fight in the military. However, as he spends more time with the 54th Massachusetts Infantry, he begins to see their courage and sacrifice, and his attitude changes. He becomes more accepting and respectful of them.

2. What differences exist among the black soldiers who make up the 54th Massachusetts Infantry? What does this tell you about the different experiences of blacks in 19th-century America? What about their regions of origin, former status (enslaved), and educational background?

The 54th Massachusetts Infantry was a diverse group of men. They came from different regions of the United States, had different backgrounds, and were treated differently by the white soldiers and officers.

3. What attitudes did white soldiers have about the 54th? Did these attitudes change and why?

At first, the white soldiers in the 54th were prejudiced against the African-American soldiers. They thought they were inferior and didn't want to fight alongside them. However, as they spent more time with them, their attitudes began to change.

4. Were blacks treated equally to whites in the Union army? Explain.

No, blacks were not treated equally to whites in the Union army. They were paid less, given less food and shelter, and were often treated with disrespect and discrimination.

5. What is significant about Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender?

Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender was significant because it showed that he was willing to die for his men and for the cause of freedom.

6. Did that incident end as you expected? What feelings/arguments come over you last night?

The movie ends with the 54th Massachusetts Infantry being sent back to the front lines. This was a disappointing ending for many people, but it was also a realistic one. The movie shows the courage and sacrifice of the African-American soldiers, but it also shows the discrimination and prejudice they faced.
