book addresses the need of professional development leaders and policymakers for scholarly knowledge about influencing teachers to modify mathematical instruction to bring it more in alignment with the recommendations of the current reform movement initiated by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics The book presents theoretical perspectives for studying analyzing and understanding teacher change descriptions of contextual variables to be considered as one studies and attempts to understand teacher change and descriptions of professional development programs that resulted in teacher change One chapter builds a rationale for looking to developmental psychology for guidance in constructing models of reconstructing new forms of mathematical instruction Another highlights the relevance to mathematics teacher development of research based knowledge about how children construct mathematical ideas Other chapters explore the relationships between the various contexts of schooling and instructional change Included also are chapters that describe and analyze major reform efforts designed to assist teachers in modifying their instructional practices Cognitively Guided Instruction Math Cubed Project Impact Mathematics in Context and the Case Based Project Finally the current state of knowledge about encouraging teachers to modify their instruction is discussed the implications of major research and implementation findings are suggested and some of the major questions that need to be addressed are identified such as what we have learned about teacher change

Online Learning in Mathematics Education Karen Hollebrands, Robin Anderson, Kevin Oliver, 2021-10-27 This book brings together research from mathematics education and instructional design to describe the development and impact of online environments on prospective and practicing teachers learning to teach mathematics The move to online learning has steadily increased over the past decade Its most rapid movement occurring in 2020 with most instruction taking place remotely Chapters in this book highlight issues related to teacher learning in three main contexts formal informal and experiential or practice based This volume brings together researchers from the different but related fields of instructional design and mathematics education to engage in dialogue around how we design and study the impacts of online learning in general and online mathematics education more specifically The book is very timely with most instruction taking place online and mathematics educators addressing challenges related to supporting teachers formal informal and experiential learning online A chapter in each section will synthesize ideas presented by instructional designers and mathematics educators as it relates to teacher learning in each context At the end of each section a retrospective chapter is presented to reflect on what the different perspectives offer to better understand mathematics teacher learning in online environments This book is of interest to mathematics educators researchers teacher educators professional development providers and instructional designers

Resources in Education , 1998 Teaching in Special Education Lisa A. Ferrelli, 2010 How do special education teachers function in general education settings Ferrelli uses interviews and observation to tell the stories of six special education teachers as they go about the business of teaching illuminating elements of special education teacher practice and documenting the tensions between special education and general education teachers

Leadership from the Ground Up Michele A. Acker-Hocevar, Marta I. Cruz-Janzen, Cynthia L. Wilson, 2012-01-01 This book chronicles the journey of seven schools serving students of poverty English Language Learners ELLs and students of color which were able to sustain school improvement for a decade on either state and or national criteria that measure student performance outcomes The book shares stories of these seven schools and demonstrates that it takes an entire school working together with their communities adding to the social and cultural capital of their students and families to create and nurture what we call a Learning Partnership for sustainable school improvement The answers for how these schools sustained school improvement and are effective schools is evident from their school student metrics that validate the school s ability to meet and sustain external mandates of high performance over time The seven individual case stories illustrate that what matters most is what happens in the school itself It is the internal culture of caring and respecting each other and working from an additive perspective of valuing students for their unique gifts and abilities rather than exclusively focusing on increasing test scores that makes these school stories unique This is not about heroic leadership but leadership spread out and shared among professionals working together to achieve common goals around shared values and beliefs This book is about using resources in ways that value human capital as the greatest asset in the school to ensure that educators feel a sense of commitment connection and passion for their work together with students their families and their communities that enable them to excel together We offer readers seven cases that demonstrate there is no cookie cutter approach to having an effective school Rather there is a theory in practice that grounds the Learning Partnership depicted as a tree within a sustainable school improvement culture This sustainable culture connects shared leadership and accountability resourcefulness a humanistic philosophy additive schooling and results in an organization synergy that sustains organizational and collective efficacy for achieving results in these schools that other educators in schools with similar demographics are often unable to sustain or attain
