Transactions on Computational Science II Marina L. Gavrilova, 2008-09-16

The LNCS journal Transactions on Computational Science reflects recent developments in the field of Computational Science, conceiving the field not as a mere ancillary science but rather as an innovative approach supporting many other scientific disciplines

The journal focuses on original high-quality research in the realm of computational science in parallel and distributed environments encompassing the facilitating theoretical foundations and the applications of large-scale computations and massive data processing

It addresses researchers and practitioners in areas ranging from aerospace to biochemistry, from electronics to geosciences, from mathematics to software architecture, presenting verifiable computational methods, findings, and solutions, and enabling industrial users to apply techniques of leading-edge large-scale high-performance computational methods

Transactions on Computational Science II is devoted to the subject of denotational mathematics for computational intelligence

Denotational mathematics as a counterpart of conventional analytic mathematics is a category of expressive mathematical structures that deals with high-level mathematical entities beyond numbers and sets, such as abstract objects, complex relations, behavioral information, concepts, knowledge, processes, granules, and systems

This volume includes 12 papers covering the following four important areas: foundations and applications of denotational mathematics, rough and fuzzy set theories, granular computing, and knowledge and information modeling
