Big Data Applications in Geography and Planning Mark Birkin, Graham Clarke, Jonathan Corcoran, Robert

Stimson,2021-05-28 This unique book demonstrates the utility of big data approaches in human geography and planning Offering a carefully curated selection of case studies it reveals how researchers are accessing big data what this data looks like and how such data can offer new and important insights and knowledge Dictators Without Borders Alexander A. Cooley,John Heathershaw,2017-02-07 A penetrating look into the unrecognized and unregulated links between autocratic regimes in Central Asia and centers of power and wealth throughout the West Weak corrupt and politically unstable the former Soviet republics of Kazakhstan Kyrgyzstan Tajikistan and Uzbekistan are dismissed as isolated and irrelevant to the outside world But are they This hard hitting book argues that Central Asia is in reality a globalization leader with extensive involvement in economics politics and security dynamics beyond its borders Yet Central Asia s international activities are mostly hidden from view with disturbing implications for world security Based on years of research and involvement in the region Alexander Cooley and John Heathershaw reveal how business networks elite bank accounts overseas courts third party brokers and Western lawyers connect Central Asia s supposedly isolated leaders with global power centers The authors also uncover widespread Western participation in money laundering bribery foreign lobbying by autocratic governments and the exploiting of legal loopholes within Central Asia Riveting and important this book exposes the global connections of a troubled region that must no longer be ignored Land Grabbing in Africa Fassil Demissie,2017-10-02 The sign that Africa is on Sale has been appearing with regular frequency in major newspaper accounts across the world indicating that large amounts expanses of Africa s rich farmlands are being sold to transnational investors usually on long term leases at a rate not seen in decades indeed not since the colonial period Transnational and national economic actors from various business sectors oil and auto mining and forestry food and chemical bioenergy etc are eagerly acquiring or declaring their intention to acquire large areas of land on which to build maintain or extend large scale extractive and agro industrial enterprises to help secure their own food and energy needs into the future This book provides a critical appraisal of the growing phenomenon of land grabbing in Africa Far from being a technical issue associated good governance the problem of land grabbing by transnational corporation and states is a serious threat for the food security of millions of Africans and is undoubtedly one of the great challenges of our time for development on the continent The case studies illustrate that African states are also complicit in the massive land grabbing by actively participating in isolated development while excluding the local communities The case studies reveal key features that characterize how the global land grab plays out in specific localities in Africa This book was published as a special issue of African Identities Sustainable Railway Futures Becky P.Y. Loo,Claude Comtois,2016-03-03 Revitalizing railways as a major sustainable transport mode in modern societies faces many issues and challenges This in depth overview places the importance of railways in the wider context of comprehensive sustainability which encompasses sustainable development social and economic equity and community livability Some scholars have described the 21st century as a period of renaissance for railways and suggest this transport mode can fulfil people's desire for high mobility with low negative environmental social economic and financial impacts In light of these new expectations for railways in both passenger and freight transport worldwide this book offers the latest research insights on the renewed interest about railway expansions and their wide ranging environmental socio economic and even political implications The Middle and Upper Paleolithic Archeology of the Levant and Beyond Yoshihiro Nishiaki, Takeru

Akazawa, 2017-12-06 This volume is a compilation of results from sessions of the Second International Conference on the Replacement of Neanderthals by Modern Humans which took place between November 30 and December 6 2014 in Hokkaido Japan Similar to the first conference held in 2012 in Tokyo the 2014 conference RNMH2014 aimed to compile the results of the latest multidisciplinary approaches investigating the issues surrounding the replacement of Neanderthals by modern humans The results of the sessions supplemented by off site contributions center on the archeology of the Middle and Upper Paleolithic of the Levant and beyond The first part of this volume presents recent findings from the Levant while the second part focuses on the neighboring regions namely the Caucasus the Zagros and South Asia The 13 chapters in this volume highlight the distinct nature of the cultural occurrences during the Middle and Upper Paleolithic periods of the Levant displaying a continuous development as well as a combination of lithic traditions that may have originated in different regions This syncretism which is an unusual occurrence in the regions discussed in this volume reinforces the importance of the Levant as a region for interpreting the RNMH phenomenon in West Asia Defence Planning and Uncertainty

Stephan Frühling, 2014-04-24 How can countries decide what kind of military forces they need if threats are uncertain and history is full of strategic surprises This is a question that is more pertinent than ever as countries across the Asia Pacific are faced with the military and economic rise of China Uncertainty is inherent in defence planning but different types of uncertainty mean that countries need to approach decisions about military force structure in different ways This book examines four different basic frameworks for defence planning and demonstrates how states can make decisions coherently about the structure and posture of their defence forces despite strategic uncertainty It draws on case studies from the United States Australian and New Zealand each of which developed key concepts for their particular circumstances and risk perception in Asia Success as well as failure in developing coherent defence planning frameworks holds lessons for the United States and other countries as they consider how best to structure their military forces for the uncertain challenges of the future

The Center Cannot Hold Jenna N. Hanchey, 2023-07-07 In The Center Cannot Hold Jenna N Hanchey examines the decolonial potential emerging from processes of ruination and collapse Drawing on ethnographic fieldwork in rural Tanzania at an internationally funded NGO as it underwent dissolution Hanchey traces the conflicts between local leadership and Western paternalism as well as the unstable subjectivity of Western volunteers including the author who are unable to withstand the contradictions of playing the dual roles of decolonializing ally and white savior She argues that Western institutional and mental structures must be allowed to fall apart to make possible the emergence of decolonial justice

Hanchey shows how through ruination privileged subjects come to critical awareness through repeated encounters with their own complicity providing an opportunity to delink from and oppose epistemologies of coloniality After things fall apart Hanchey posits the creation of decolonial futures depends on the labor required to imagine impossible futures into being

Saving More Than Seeds Catherine Phillips, 2016-04-01 Saving More Than Seeds advances understandings of seed people relations with particular focus on seed saving The practice of reusing and exchanging seeds provides foundation for food production and allows humans and seed to adapt together in dynamic socionatural conditions But the practice and its practitioners are easily taken for granted even as they are threatened by neoliberalisation Combining original ethnographic research with investigation of an evolving corporate seed order this book reveals seed saving not only as it occurs in fields and gardens but also as it associates with genebanking genetic engineering intellectual property rights and agrifood regulations Drawing on diverse social sciences literatures Phillips illustrates ongoing practices of thinking feeling and acting with seeds raising questions about what seed people relations should accomplish and how different ways of relating might be pursued to change collective futures

For most of the twentieth century tin was fundamental for both warfare and welfare The importance of tin is most powerfully represented by the tin can an invention which created a revolution in food preservation and helped feed both the armies of the great powers and the masses of the new urban society The trouble with tin was that economically viable deposits of the metal could only be found in a few regions of the world predominantly in the southern hemisphere while the main centers of consumption were in the industrialized north The tin trade was therefore a highly politically charged economy in which states and private enterprise competed and cooperated to assert control over deposits smelters and markets Tin provides a particularly telling illustration of how the interactions of business and governments shape the evolution of the global economic trade the tin industry has experienced extensive state intervention during times of war encompasses intense competition and cartelization and has seen industry centers both thrive and fail in the wake of decolonization The history of the international tin industry reveals the complex interactions and interdependencies between local actors and international networks decolonization and globalization as well as government foreign policies and entrepreneurial tactics By highlighting the global struggles for control and the constantly shifting economic geographical and political constellations within one specific industry this collection of essays brings the state back into business history and the firm into the history of international relations download from OUP and selected open access locations Although modern civilization revolves around money the nature of money is paradoxical It is nothing more than a representation of and medium for decentralized networks of social trust but its production is controlled by highly centralized networks of firms places and governments and there is never enough of it to go around Moreover given that the creation of money as credit is based on expectations money is at its heart an instrument for human agency to change the future However the financial systems that produce money are deeply rooted in the past and perpetuate themselves through history Sticky Power seeks to deepen our understanding of the paradox of money by introducing a novel conceptual lens Global Financial Networks to cast new light on the geography history politics and sociology of finance from the Middle Ages to the global financial crisis and beyond It shows that the power of finance is inherently sticky apparently new innovations such as offshore finance actually date back centuries and global financial networks more broadly have adapted to the rise and fall of empires and the development of new technologies while changing surprisingly little in their basic character or at most changing very slowly Haberly and W jcik argue that a recognition of the mechanics of this durability calls for a new approach to reforming finance one less reactively focused on regulation and more proactively focused on building new institutional systems with a long term sticky power of their own Protection and Empire Lauren Benton,Adam Clulow,Bain Attwood,2017-11-02 For five centuries protection has provided a basic currency for organising relations between polities Protection underpinned sprawling tributary systems permeated networks of long distance trade reinforced claims of royal authority in distant colonies and structured treaties Empires made routine use of protection as they extended their influence projecting authority over old and new subjects forcing weaker parties to pay them for safe conduct and sometimes paying for it themselves The result was a fluid politics that absorbed both the powerful and the weak while giving rise to institutions and jurisdictional arrangements with broad geographic scope and influence This volume brings together leading scholars to trace the long history of protection across empires in Asia Africa Australasia Europe and the Americas Employing a global lens it offers an innovative way of understanding the formation and growth of empires and uncovers new dimensions of the relation of empires to regional and global order
