development plan As our society looks forward to what sort of country and region we need to become it is also important to look backward Understanding the past gives us insights into how we have come to be where we are now and so in turn what paths we should tread into the future This Occasional Paper is one of two that GCRO has commissioned specifically to deepen our understanding of the past of the GCR Both focus on aspects of the region's spatial past and ought to be read together This paper by Alan Mabin explores how the idea of a city region found expression in various statutory planning frameworks over the course of the last century and how embryonic cityregion concepts influenced spatial decisions and developments The companion paper by Brian Mubiwa and Harold Annegarn considers the different but related issue of the actual historical spatial evolution of the GCR It examines key spatial changes that have shaped the region over a century and provides a remarkable picture based on satellite imagery of regional spatial growth in the last two decades The Geography of South Africa Jasper Knight, Christian M. Rogerson, 2018-10-03 This edited collection examines contemporary directions in geographical research on South Africa It encompasses a cross section of selected themes of critical importance not only to the discipline of Geography in South Africa but also of relevance to other areas of the Global South All chapters are original contributions providing a state of the art research baseline on key themes in physical human and environmental geography and in understanding the changing geographical landscapes of modern South Africa These contributions set the scene for an understanding of the relationships between modern South Africa and the wider contemporary world including issues of sustainable development and growth in the Global South South African national bibliography, 1999 Classified list with author and title index Social cohesion in Gauteng Richard Ballard, Christian Hamann, Kate Joseph, Themani Mkhize, 2019-03-14 Increasing attacks on foreigners including in April 2015 along with a succession of widely publicised incidents of racism have triggered a new round of soul searching in South Africa Why after the comprehensive defeat of apartheid and its ideology does prejudice seem so intractable What kinds of interventions could help reduce these troubling events How can society be made more cohesive Suggestions about what to do in the face of these challenges are sometimes speculative and wishful They consist of appeals to the better nature of ordinary people or an assumption that the feel good moments of the democratic transition can be re enacted to bind everyone together Calls for social cohesion and tolerance seem often to dodge the complex vicious cycles that lead to the instances of intolerance that erupt in the media or in communities This Research Report centres on better understanding the current dynamics of social cohesion in Gauteng It tackles five guiding questions each of which corresponds to a chapter 1 How has social cohesion become a goal in post apartheid South Africa and what are the key limitations resulting from this understanding of social progress 2 In a global context how is social cohesion defined and what are the main contestations about this ideal of social change 3 How do the respondents in the GCRO's Quality of Life IV 2015/16 survey respond to questions on levels of trust claims to belonging by different race groups and the place of migrants and gays and lesbians in Gauteng 4 How have past and present initiatives to improve social cohesion conceived of the problem they are attempting to address and what is their scale of intervention 5

What are the various methodologies that have been used in past and present initiatives to improve social cohesion A key premise of this research was that our society has an enormous accumulation of experience in trying to tackle anti social interactions and to address social injustices that are in various ways shaped by race class nationality gender sexuality and other identities The last two chapters of this report are based on a review of more than 60 social cohesion initiatives They analyse the wide variety of actors involved in such work the different ways in which they conceive of their objectives and the different scales at which they operate These actors pursue dozens of different methodologies including sports and dialogue arts psychology urban design and public campaigns This dispersed capacity through society is important because it represents experience based responses to the ways in which anti social behaviour and social injustice are reproduced In attempting to determine a programme of action we argue that we should learn from and extend existing and past attempts to tackle these difficulties

Drum ,2002 Governance in the New South Africa Guy C. Z. Mhone,Omano Edigheji,2003 The major challenges confronting South Africa since the advent of non racial multiparty democracy have been the need to promote democratic governance economic growth global competitiveness and to improve the standard of living of its people especially the previously disadvantaged majority Black population These challenges have coincided with the ascendancy of globalisation with its attendant social economic and political imperatives all of which have consequences for governance and development at the national level not least in emerging economies like South Africa This important book assesses the implications of global imperatives for the nature capacity character and scope of democratic governance and the pursuit of equitable development in the new South Africa A major conclusion is that the implementation of domestic economic reforms predicated on market fundamentalism with its dominant logic and paradigm of globalisation and economic management is incompatible and irreconcilable with the quest for democratic governance and equitable development The contributors contend that such an approach reproduces a substantively undemocratic and inequitable society Governance in the New South Africa concludes by offering some considerations related to how substantive democracy and equitable development may be promoted in South Africa on the basis of democratic governance and developmentalism New Drivers of Division Ya Ping Wang,Keith Kintrea,David Everatt,Debolina Kundu,2025-09-02
