Reauthorization Act of 2015 Alternative Models of Addiction Hanna Pickard, Serge H. Ahmed, Bennett Foddy, 2015-12-07

For much of the 20th century theories of addictive behaviour and motivation were polarized between two models. The first model viewed addiction as a moral failure for which addicts are rightly held responsible and judged accordingly. The second model, in contrast, viewed addiction as a specific brain disease caused by neurobiological adaptations occurring in response to chronic drug or alcohol use and over which addicts have no choice or control. As our capacity to observe neurobiological phenomena improved, the second model became scientific orthodoxy, increasingly dominating addiction research and informing public understandings of addiction. More recently, however, a dissenting view has emerged within addiction research, based partly on new scientific research and partly on progress in philosophical and psychological understandings of relevant mental phenomena. This view does not revert to treating addiction as a moral failure but nonetheless holds that addictive behaviour is fundamentally motivated by choice and subject to at least a degree of voluntary control. On this alternative model of addiction, addictive behaviour is an instrumental means to ends that are desired by the individual, although much controversy exists with respect to the rationality or irrationality of these ends, the degree and nature of the voluntary control of addictive behaviour and motivation, the explanation of the difference between addictive and non-addictive behaviour and motivation, and lastly the extent to which addictive behaviour and motivation is correctly characterised as pathological or diseased. This research topic includes papers in the traditions of neuroscience, psychology, philosophy, law, and social science that explore alternative understandings of addiction.

Teaching Mathematics Creatively Linda Pound, Trisha Lee, 2021-09-30

This revised and updated third edition offers a range of strategies, activities, and ideas to bring mathematics to life in the primary classroom. Taking an innovative and playful approach to maths teaching, this book promotes creativity as a key element of practice and offers ideas to help your students develop knowledge, understanding, and enjoyment of the subject. In the creative classroom, mathematics becomes a tool to build confidence, develop problem-solving skills, and motivate children. The fresh approaches explored in this book include a range of activities such as storytelling, music, and construction, elevating maths learning beyond subject knowledge itself to enable students to see mathematics in a new way. Key chapters of this book explore Learning maths outdoors, make more noise, make more mess, or work on a larger scale. Everyday maths, making sense of the numbers, patterns, shapes, and measures children see around them. Music and maths, the role of rhythm in learning, and music and pattern in maths. Stimulating, accessible, and underpinned by the latest research and theory, this is essential reading for trainee and practising teachers who wish to embed creative approaches to maths teaching in their classroom.

Teaching to Change the World Jeannie Oakes, Martin Lipton, Lauren Anderson, Jamy Stillman, 2018-01-29

Teaching to Change the World is an up-to-the-moment, engaging social justice-oriented introduction to education and teaching and the challenges and opportunities they present.
