Intertwined Information Changes Everything:

Information Systems Christine Urquhart, Faten Hamad, Dina Tbaishat, Alison Yeoman, 2017-12-21 This new book takes a holistic view of information architecture to offer information professionals a vital critical analysis of library and information service architecture with discussion of methods tools techniques and trends The editors argue that library assessment literature has primarily dealt with performance measurement and change management strategies leaving little on the ways of looking at the process architecture of library and information services and on methods for business process analysis Information Systems Process and practice aims to fill that gap with a combination of theory and supporting case studies written by an international line up of contributors This book discusses research and methods that help libraries and information services work from strategic business objectives through to the organisation of processes that support the information services offered opens a new area of research investigation on the link between information behaviour research and information systems and architecture illustrated by case studies and projects uses introductory sections and chapter commentary from the editors to draw the discussions together This will be essential reading for researchers in Information Science specifically in the areas of digital libraries information architecture and information systems It will also be useful for practitioners and students in these areas seeking to understand research issues and challenges and to discover how they have been handled in practice elsewhere

Advances in Information Architecture Andrea Resmini, Sarah A. Rice, Bernadette Irizarry, 2021-04-20 This volume reveals the history of Information Architecture IA reflects on the relationship between practice and research within the discipline and presents educators with the latest models frameworks and theories that have emerged from the Information Architecture Academics and Practitioners Roundtable between 2014 and 2019 The most comprehensive and up to date overview of Information Architecture so far this collection is a valuable tool for teachers researchers and practitioners interested in recent advances in information architecture in areas such as pervasive computing and embodiment artificial intelligence design practice diversity and ethics in design and critique The information landscape has grown more complex porous and connected the information challenges of smart phones sensors and IoT demand focused attention from organizations that often embrace a move fast and break things ethos This book not only explores the shift from Classical IA to Contemporary IA it asks are today's creators prepared to solve the challenges ahead Have industry led disciplines abdicated their responsibility to the people who inhabit current information environments Will this discipline persist Advances in Information Architecture examines the maturity of the field revisits the discipline's efforts to transform itself in 2013 with the publication of Reframing Information Architecture and considers the opportunities that remain to bridge the academic and practitioner communities

Information Architecture Louis Rosenfeld, Peter Morville, Jorge Arango, 2015-09-09 Annotation The fourth edition of this guide focuses on information architecture as a set of tools and techniques for dealing with today's tough information organization problems It's ideal for anyone involved in any aspect of design The universal and timeless principles of information organization described in the book's first three editions still apply in our increasingly mobile world In the fourth edition the authors cast those principles in the context of current practice using many updated examples and illustrations

The De Gruyter Handbook of Automated Futures Vaike Fors, Martin Berg, Meike Brodersen, 2024-09-23 How does automation affect us our environment and our imaginations What actions should we take in response to automation Beyond grand narratives and technology driven visions of the future what more can automation offer With these questions in mind The De Gruyter Handbook of Automated Futures provides a framework for thinking about and implementing automation differently It consolidates automated futures as an inter and transdisciplinary research field embedding the imaginaries interactions and impacts of automation technology within their social historical societal cultural and political contexts Promoting a critical yet constructive and engaging agenda the handbook invites readers to collaborate with rather than resist automation agendas It does so by pushing the agenda for social science humanities and design beyond merely assessing and evaluating existing technologies Instead the handbook demonstrates how the humanities and social sciences are essential to the design and governance of sustainable sociotechnical systems Methodologically the handbook is underpinned by a pedagogical approach to staging co learning and co creation of automated futures with rather than simply for people In this way the handbook encourages readers to explore new and alternative modes of research fostering a deeper engagement with the evolving landscape of automation Scholarly Digital Editions as Interfaces Roman Bleier, Martina Bürgermeister, Helmut W. Klug, Frederike Neuber, Gerlinde Schneider, 2018-11-15 Interfaces are important elements of digital scholarly editions as they allow and direct the interaction of users with the online content and they facilitate the access to and exchange of data and information Some interfaces are created for the human user GUI others for machine interaction and data exchange API Both aspects of interfaces and their roles in digital scholarly editing were discussed at a conference in 2016 organised by the Centre for Information Modelling at the University of Graz and the Digital Scholarly Editions Initial Training Network DiXiT This volume includes a range of papers presented at the conference that highlight the diverse views and approaches towards interfaces in the digital scholarly editing community

Shock of the New Chad Udell, Gary Woodill, 2019-04-02 Find the Leading Edge in a Disrupted World Planning our response to disruption seems impossible Most new and emerging technologies have been in development for decades but as soon as they land on our doorstep they inspire the shock of the new How do you as a learning professional prepare for what you don't know is coming How do you judge what is important and what is just a fad In Shock of the New The Challenge and Promise of Emerging Learning Technologies Chad Udell and Gary Woodill create a new framework for anticipating emerging learning technologies outlining six key perspectives you should consider with any new technology They examine some of the day's most commonly discussed emerging technologies and pose the questions that will point the way to your own strategy These insights aren't limited to specific applications they give you an approach you can apply to any new tech coming your way so you're always braced for the shock of the new Udell and Woodill optimistically point out that emerging technologies will help us make sense of our increasingly complex world many more changes will occur over the next decade so buckle up What was once science fiction has just become real and now is your opportunity to be on the leading edge Library Service Design Joe J. Marquez, Annie Downey, 2016-07-08 Service design is a holistic co creative and user centered approach to understanding user behavior for creating or refining services Use this LITA Guide to help as a toolkit for implementing service design studies and projects at all types of libraries It begins with directions for how to create a service design team and assembling a user working group for your library and move through the various phases in a service design journey The authors outline the tools required to gain insights into user behavior and expectation and how to diagnose the difference between a symptom and a problem users face when interacting within the library environment The guide features a series of examples that the service design team can use to learn how to work with library staff and patrons to find out what current user experience is like and how to refine services to better meet user expectations Learn how to create service blueprints to outline the service delivery model and understand pain points and places where services can be refined create customer journey maps to better understand the actual paths taken by users to fulfill a service find the right tool for the situation so you can make an informed decision on usage create an ethnographic program of your own tailored to your library environment understand how assessment and post implementation is key to any project's success create a service design plan that fits your library and patronage This book is a toolkit not a step by step paint by the numbers book It is geared towards libraries of all types and sizes and will provide tools that any library can use and ideas for developing a service design project that fits within the means of your library so that your project will be meaningful useful and sustainable While several books have been written on how to implement service design this book will be the first to explain how to practice service design in libraries Intertwined Douglas R.
