Selected Short Stories by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, This is an account of the wanderings of a spiritualist geographical and speculative Should the reader have no interest in psychic things if indeed any human being can be so foolish as not to be interested in his own nature and fate then this is the place to put the book down It were better also to end the matter now if you have no patience with a go as you please style of narrative which founds itself upon the conviction that thought may be as interesting as action and which is bound by its very nature to be intensely personal I write a record of what absorbs my mind which may be very different from that which appeals to yours But if you are content to come with me upon these terms then let us start with my apologies in advance for the pages which may bore you and with my hopes that some may compensate you by pleasure or by profit I write these lines with a pad upon my knee heaving upon the long roll of the Indian Ocean running large and grey under a grey streaked sky with the rain swept hills of Ceylon just one shade greyer lining the Eastern skyline So under many difficulties it will be carried on which may explain if it does not excuse any slurring of a style which is at its best but plain English There was one memorable night when I walked forth with my head throbbing and my whole frame quivering from the villa of Mr Southey at Merthyr Behind me the brazen glare of Dowlais iron works lit up the sky and in front twinkled the many lights of the Welsh town For two hours my wife and I had sat within listening to the whispering voices of the dead voices which are so full of earnest life and of desperate endeavours to pierce the barrier of our dull senses They had quivered and wavered around us giving us pet names sweet sacred things the intimate talk of the olden time Graceful lights signs of spirit power had hovered over us in the darkness It was a different and a wonderful world Now with those voices still haunting our memories we had slipped out into the material world a world of glaring iron works and of twinkling cottage windows As I looked down on it all I grasped my wife s hand in the darkness and I cried aloud My God if they only knew if they could only know Perhaps in that cry wrung from my very soul lay the inception of my voyage to the other side of the world The wish to serve was strong upon us both God had given us wonderful signs and they were surely not for ourselves alone I had already done the little I might From the moment that I had understood the overwhelming importance of this subject and realised how utterly it must change and chasten the whole thought of the world when it is whole heartedly accepted I felt it good to work in the matter and understood that all other work which I had ever done or could ever do was as nothing compared to this Therefore from the time that I had finished the history of the Great War on which I was engaged I was ready to turn all my remaining energies of voice or hand to the one great end At first I had little of my own to narrate and my task was simply to expound the spiritual philosophy as worked out by the thoughts and experiences of others showing folk so far as I was able that the superficial and ignorant view taken of it in the ordinary newspapers did not touch the heart of the matter My own experiences were limited and inconclusive so that it was the evidence of others which I quoted But as I went forward signs were given in profusion to me also such signs as were far above all error or deception so that I was able to speak with that more vibrant note which comes not from belief or faith but from personal experience and knowledge
