Closing the Integration Gap in Criminology Glenn D. Walters, 2019-11-07 Closing the Integration Gap in Criminology The Case for Criminal Thinking offers a multi stage model of theory integration that organizes verified risk factors around the construct of criminal thinking to provide an exemplar working paradigm for criminology In the model once relevant risk factors have been identified they are organized into triads three variable networks of antecedent mediating or moderating effects and then those triads are combined into clusters of thematically related constructs While debate continues to rage over how to handle the burgeoning number of theories in criminology little significant progress has been made in reducing the number of criminological theories This book argues that theoretical integration is vital to the continued viability of criminological theory and to the growth and development of criminology as a scientific discipline It posits that criminal thinking may be useful as a core variable in constructing a useful integrated theory for criminology and maps out a plan for scholars to organize information for further study The innovative theoretical approach in this book is essential reading for students academics and researchers in both criminology and forensic psychology concerned with the reduction of crime via scientific inquiry The Practice of Correctional Psychology Marguerite Ternes, Philip R. Magaletta, Marc W.
