

1. The engine

The engine is the heart of the vehicle. It converts the chemical energy of the fuel into mechanical energy, which is used to drive the vehicle.

The engine is made up of several parts, including the cylinder block, cylinder head, piston, and crankshaft.

The cylinder block is the main body of the engine. It contains the cylinders, which are the chambers where the fuel is ignited.

The cylinder head is the top part of the cylinder block. It contains the valves, which allow the fresh air to enter the cylinder and the exhaust gases to leave.

The piston is a T-shaped component that moves up and down in the cylinder. It is connected to the crankshaft by a connecting rod.

The crankshaft is the main rotating shaft of the engine. It converts the up-and-down motion of the piston into a rotational motion.

2. The transmission

The transmission is the part of the vehicle that allows the driver to change gears. It is located between the engine and the drive shaft.

The transmission is made up of several gears, which are used to change the speed and torque of the engine.

The driver selects the gear by moving the gear shift lever. The gear shift lever is connected to the transmission by a linkage.

The transmission also contains a clutch, which is used to disengage the engine from the drive shaft when the driver wants to change gears.

The clutch is made up of a pressure plate, a clutch disc, and a release bearing.

The pressure plate is a spring-loaded plate that presses the clutch disc against the flywheel.

The clutch disc is a flat disc that is attached to the input shaft of the transmission.

The release bearing is a bearing that is used to disengage the clutch disc from the pressure plate.

3. The drive shaft

The drive shaft is the part of the vehicle that transmits the power from the transmission to the rear axle.

The drive shaft is made up of a shaft and a universal joint. The universal joint allows the drive shaft to bend and flex as the vehicle moves.

The drive shaft is connected to the rear axle by a yoke. The yoke is a U-shaped component that fits over the end of the drive shaft.

The rear axle is the part of the vehicle that supports the rear wheels. It is made up of a shaft and a differential.

The differential is a device that allows the rear wheels to rotate at different speeds when the vehicle is turning.

The rear wheels are the part of the vehicle that provide the traction. They are made up of a wheel and a tire.
